

League of Catholic Women Set Nov. 30 as Date for Annual Dinner Party

Mrs. Roy Bronsing Roberta Chissus, J. R. Parker Married General Chairman at Candlelight Service on Saturday

Roberta Irene Chissus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Chissus, of Cedar drive, and John Richard Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Parker, of Oakland avenue, exchanged their vows at a candlelight service Saturday evening at the first Presbyterian Church at 8:30 with the Rev. W. Glen Harris officiating before banks of yellow and white chrysanthemums arranged before candelabra ferns and augmented by candelabra containing white tapers.

The bride wore an ivory velvet gown fashioned in princess style and had a tight bodice and full circular skirt with a court train. The neckline was a modified heart shape and her long tight sleeves were puffed at the shoulder and ended in points over her wrists. Her tulle veil fell from a halo of rose points. She carried ivory colored noons.

Jane Lord, of Hinsdale, Ill., the maid of honor, was dressed in a blue and white velvet frock with a gored skirt and tight bodice. Pouch pockets and short puffed sleeves completed the frock. She wore a headpiece of matching velvet bows from which fell a short veil. Yellow mums formed her bouquet.

Mrs. John R. Parker, general chairman of the dinner and working on her committee are Mrs. Joseph A. Skiffington and Mrs. Joseph A. Sweeney. Mrs. Crouch, Mrs. Flaherty and Mrs. DeGare, in charge of decorations for the function.

Mrs. John R. Parker

next pair of maids wore russet. They were Janet Fullenwider, of Detroit, and Marjorie Waterston, of Grosse Pointe, who carried bride mums. Eleanor Allen and Dorothy Porritt, the third pair, wore henna velvet and they, too, carried bride mums.

John Neerkin, cousin of the bridegroom, of Santa Monica, Calif., was his best man, and the ushers were Ralph DuBois and Fred Schwarze, of Birmingham; Jim Sargent and John Dadian, of Milwaukee and William Loud and Ellis Wunsch, of Detroit.

Mrs. Chissus wore an amethyst and fuchsia velvet dress with a matching turban and purple orchids at her shoulder. Mrs. Parker's gown was of powder blue crepe with a deeper blue jacket. She also wore orchids.

Following a reception at the Community House which was decorated throughout with mums, Mr. and Mrs. Parker left on a trip through Northern Michigan. They will live in Milwaukee.

For traveling Mrs. Parker wore a plaid wool suit, the coat having a racoon collar. Her hat was of wine colored felt and her accessories were black.

Dunstan Players To Give "Kind Lady" Nov. 15, 16

The psychological horror story of the attempt of the sinister but suave Henry Abbott and his evil accomplices to gain control of the wealth and possessions of a kind old woman by driving her crazy, will chill and terrify Bloomfield Hills audiences Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 15, and 16, if the promises of the publicity staff of St. Dunstan's drama group are fulfilled.

The play "Kind Lady" with a 9 o'clock curtain, will be the first production of St. Dunstan's Guild for the season and, as last year, has Brookside School auditorium as the locale.

In the cast are Mrs. Hubert V. Davis, Mrs. Brewster H. Shaw, Mrs. Paul B. Hoffman, Mrs. David Walker Lee, Mrs. Ferd M. Brook and Mrs. Benjamin Brewster.

The cast also includes Doris Otter, Harmon Adams, Mr. Lee Henry Whiting, Mr. Brewster and F. C. Pew.

Mrs. Carl G. Wonnberger is director and Dorothy French is assisting her. The setting is being devised by J. Robert F. Swanson with lighting by Mrs. Swanson. Miss Nellie Beveridge will design the costumes and Mrs. E. T. Boardman will be in charge of make-up.

"Kind Lady" is by Edward Chodorov is adapted from a story by Hugh Walpole.
