

Quiet Halloween; Donors Thanked

Halloween came and went in Birmingham with not of fun, but very little damage; in fact, the police department had the quietest Oct. 31 in several years.

Birmingham's big Halloween party—one of the best anywhere in the city—was held at its traditional success, with an estimated crowd of 5,000 children and adults taking part in the party.

After the parade, the throng concentrated at Hill School grounds, and there vast quantities of food were stowed away by the hungry youngsters.

Bill Olson, 341 Park, wore a dress covered with sequins made of jar jars. Jimmy Anderson, 631 Stillman, was a bat man.
