

City Adopts New Sidewalk Rules

Birmingham's sidewalk ordinance was amended Monday night to eliminate a rule of long-time standing—requirement of license and bonds for contractors.

Never Collected Cent

"So far as I know, the City has never collected a cent on any sidewalk," he declared.

MEETING

(Continued from Page One) who made the constitution of the United States were God-fearing men and only God-fearing men can save us from destruction today.

Rev. Orlert Speaks

Principal speaker of the evening was Rev. Frederick H. Orlert, of the First Presbyterian Church, of Detroit, who in speaking on "Evangelism in these Times," launched immediately into the problem of the vanishing evangelist.

Another Difference

Another difference and advantage, according to Egbert, is that whereas under the old ordinance, a sidewalk built privately, but under a licensed operator, becomes the responsibility of the City for future repairs, under the new ordinance, it is definitely understood that walks built privately thereafter the sole responsibility of the property owner, and must be repaired at a cost to the owner.

Arthur King Hurt In Auto Mishap

Arthur E. King, 37 years old, of 415 Baldwin avenue, is still in Ford Hospital, Detroit, recovering from severe injuries received last Friday when his automobile, going south on Woodward avenue, crashed into a utility pole. The car is said to be wrecked beyond repair.

EUROPE

(Continued from Page One) produce was spoiled and a garden shed damaged, but we can stand that. One fell in the field at the back of our house; I think God was looking after us that night, alright.

Don't Send Child

"I am going to send this letter by air mail and I shall be a bit surer of it reaching you.
