Miss Foster Plans Entertainment For Dancing Classes

Boys and girls enrolled in Miss Annie Ward Foster's Bloomfield Hills dancing classes, which started last Friday, are looking forward to a program of interesting affairs. While learning to dance and having their social edges polished off, they will be treated to good times that will be like parties. There will be a cottillion with favors and other special events and, in addition, there will be four dinner-dances or buffet suppers, all at the Bloomfield Hills Country club, scene of the lessons.

The dance sessions will continue every other week until the first of May. According to Miss Foster's plan, the twelve-year-olds and early teen-agers will have the floor from 7:30 till 9, when the students of high school age will take over. A class for the very young is to be held every other Monday afternoon, at the Bloomfield club.
