

Four Games Missed by Several Fans in Last Week's Contest

Lions Game Tickets Next Prize Offered

Bowed but unbent, Birmingham football fans are hustling into this week's football forecast. Two reserved seat tickets for the Detroit Lions-Washington Redskins game on Sunday, Oct. 27, are the grand prize for the fourth big contest, plus of course, the $13 in merchandise awards which are just as attractive if not more so than the football tickets.

Over 200 Entries. Yes, that contest last week was a tough one. More than 200 entries rolled in for the regular and the students' contests. (The student contest was for last week only) and no one was able to predict the correct outcomes of more than ten games. Teams were pretty evenly matched and that made real skill a requisite, plus a little luck—plus prompt action by participants. Remember, when there is a tie, the first entry received or the earliest postmark if that is earlier is adjudged the winner. Here they are:

G. FREDRIC MOCK, 168 South Woodward avenue.
 BILL HOPKINS, 294 Larchlea (student winner).
 Honorable mention is made of the several others who were able to correctly forecast at least 10 games. They are as follows (plus the number each entry was given when it arrived at this office):

Miss Frances Kregan, 421 West Brown (45); Sam M. Howling, 719 Chester (49); Ray A. Palmer, 720 East Maple (52); Bob Craig, 583 Bloomfield Court (65); R. H. Fleming, 558 Half Moon road (68); Agnes H. Baynes, 2922 1/2 Telegraph road (87); A. J. Fowler, 604 Pierce street (91); Robert Andrews, 248 South Adams (98); Phyllis Edwards, Fox and Hounds Inn (123); Jack Daeschner, 2940 Brookside (132) and Malcolm C. Cameron, 124 1/2 Yorkshire road (156).

Richardson Also In There! In the student contest, Gene Richardson, 885 Pleasant, also picked 10 correct games but Bill Hopkins' quick action gave him the two tickets to the Michigan State-Santa Clara game.

Despite these unofficial ties, fans remember that one game would have made a big difference. For example, if Malcolm Cameron, who was 156th to come in, had picked Michigan State to trim Purdue, he would have had 11 games right and would have been grand champion all by himself.

Interest is still mounting, and plenty of grid fans are expected to go for this week's prize. Washington, with the flashy Sammy Baugh throwing those passes, ought to be a real attraction in the game against the Lions Oct. 27. Baugh is heading for an all-time mark for pass accuracy.

So, sharpen up your pencils and get busy on the ballot on this page. Students are eligible, of course, to compete in the regular contest.

Country Fair Held at Barnum

Highlighting the Barnum School Country Fair given last night was the vaudeville show presented with enthusiasm by many Baldwin Senior and Barnum Junior High School students.

Under the direction of Miss Lyla McCormick, many enjoyable acts were presented. Miss McCormick is an English teacher at Barnum School and is also head of dramatics at that institution.

Two skits were given, one by Ella Clark and Nelda Mae Smith, the other by Harrison Cornell and Robert Clements.

Songs were sung by Nauey and Sally Spouse, Bob and Anne Hall. Donald Kimmins played an accordion solo. Recitations were given by Donald Kimmins, Jacqueline Buck, and Bob Ewin.

Ruth Minks acted as accompanist.

"Many a young man is getting married to avoid conscription," just another case of hitting behind a woman's skirt," declares an editor. Oh, well, a man who can hide behind the curvilinear skirt is too small for military service anyway.—Washington Post.

'Learn to Bowl Week' Celebrated With Free Lessons

This week, Oct. 14 to 19, is National Learn to Bowl Week, and the Birmingham Recreation is co-operating in the program. It was announced by Russell and Betty Chapman.

To win new friends for bowling, the local concern and 72 other establishments in the Detroit area, all members of the Greater Detroit Proprietors Association, are cooperating in the movement. A $50,000 bowling carnival with prizes for several thousand people is being started by the Brunswick company, and full details can be secured at the local alley.

Free instruction in the fundamentals of the game, how to score and other advice for beginners, will be given by instructors.

Enthusiasm for bowling has developed so rapidly hereabouts that many are anxious to learn the ten-pin game although reluctant to admit they are novices. "It is there are many new bowlers rolling in league competition this fall who have no conception regarding the fundamentals of the game," President Waters, of the Association, related. "They are learning the

Public Speakers Stage 'Radio' Skits

The public speaking class has recently been making plans to attend Town Hall meetings Friday morning.

Among other things the class looks forward to are weekly radio skits. The public address system is used and each week members from the class work out a new skit with individual scripts.

Correspondence Club Busy At Baldwin

The Foreign Correspondence Club receives names of boys and girls in foreign countries to whom they may write.

It meets in Baldwin High School during activity period.

Last week Sid Wilkins gave an interesting talk on his trip to Mexico last summer.

The officers of the club are Charles Chapman, president; Ed Hasall, secretary-treasurer.

4 O'CLOCK every Wednesday is the deadline for turning in your classified "Want Ads." Phone 11.

Survey of Business Planned By Club

Meeting during activity period, the Vocational Club of Baldwin High School will continue the survey started last year on business of Birmingham. Another project will be to study various occupations, their requirements, and their opportunities.

The officers of the club are Gloria Wagnitz, president; Allan Cole, vice-president; Gloria Malcolin, secretary; and Mildred Benecor, treasurer.

Athletic Association Plans Its Program

Under the direction of Miss Harriet Skidmore, instructor, the Girls Athletic Association has completed plans for the rest of the semester.

A hay ride was given last Tuesday night starting from the home of Virginia Johnston, general chairman of the affair.

The weekly schedule is as follows: bowling—Mondays after school; soccer—Thursdays; badminton—Wednesdays at Quanton school from 4 o'clock until 5:30. Table tennis will be started at a later date.

How Barnum Pupils Aided Fire Prevention

During Fire Prevention Week Oct. 8 to 11, the Maple Leaf staff of Barnum Junior High School sponsored a coloring contest. Bill Brunner, a 'B' student, won the award for his home room, the Musketeers. The picture of a fireman designed for the cover of the last issue of the Maple Leaf by George Scott of the Fire Department, was judged to be the most artistically colored by Bill Brunner. Staff of the Maple Leaf acted as judges.
