

Tea On Monday to Launch Activities of Local Needlework Guild

Jackson Guests Plan to Attend Annual Affair

The time for the annual drive of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills branch of the Needlework Guild of America is here—or nearly here, anyway.

This year the local guild is deviating from its usual custom of having a luncheon to launch its drive. Monday when the Needlework Guild formally opens its activities for the year, it will be done with a tea at the Community House for directors of the board, for members of the guild and for friends and visitors.

Present at the tea will be Mrs. W. K. Knox and Mrs. E. L. Davies, both of the Jackson guild. Mrs. Knox is a vice president of the guild there and Mrs. Davies is a member of the executive board in Jackson.

President of the Birmingham and Hills branch again this year is Mrs. Ferd M. Brook. Vice presidents are Mrs. E. W. Seabolt, Mrs. Lewis K. Marshall and Mrs. Frederick E. Both. Mrs. M. G. Kien is secretary and has as her assistant Mrs. H. J. Lavner. Mrs. Lawrence C. Howe is treasurer of the organization. Mrs. Carleton C. Patterson is a member of the board of the guild.

Mrs. Wallace Dodds is in charge of the tea that is to be held Monday and also the one to be held Tuesday, Oct. 29, at the Community House in connection with the ingathering.

Theme of the guild this year is that Americans must not forget their own needy this year when the plight of refugees in war-torn Europe is tearing at their hearts and purse strings.

It was in 1882, in Dorsetshire, England, that Lady Wokerton sat watching the small inmates of an orphanage. Her heart was wrung by the general grotesque of their appearance, dressed in clothing discarded by undoubtedly well-intentioned people. She thought of the plenty among her friends' children and of what a slight deprivation it would be to each of them to give just one year two new articles from their abundance.

With this thought in mind she interlarded her own circle in London in the movement which spread swiftly throughout the British Isles. In 1885 it was brought to the United States, the first chapter being founded in Philadelphia from whence it has covered the United States, gone into Canada, Nova Scotia and even Honolulu.

For a number of years the social agencies have looked to the local guild for supplies. They depend on it for clothing for children and adults, for sick room necessities such as bedding, nightwear, layettes and even crutches. Medicines are often supplied through the
