Adams Coming As a result of this conversation, Adams has been named as the Birmingham representative of the Birmingham Commission, and has agreed to meet with the sub-dividers controlling the subdivision immediately east of this road.

Letter This is the letter that Supervisor Eggert, of Southfield, wrote to the Commission who finds it possible to attend this meeting should be present.

Sanitation The "operation of our sewage treatment plant is being treated as a factory and I am quite confident that a complete survey will show that we know the sewage settles in the pond south of the 14-mile road, and causes considerable pollution of the water."

During Storms During time of storm, Eggert believes that a small amount of the disposal plant becomes full to capacity and the sewage then "overflows" at various points, with the excess going directly into the river.

Heaviest Cottontail Weighs Over 2 lbs. EAST LANSING—A prize to be won by young hunters in the Lakeville experiment station this fall will be a "grandmammoth" cottontail weighing four pounds, nine ounces.

Awards to be Presented At ten o'clock the awards for the boys and girl championship will be presented by Mrs. J. Rowland Quinn, chairman of the Birmingham Recreation Committee. All children who have won tournament championships are requested to appear at the Street Dance to receive their awards.

Play Center News At the Pet Show held at the Adams Play Center last week the winners were Nancy Fisher with her dog, Baby Snuggs, and Jack and Judy Tuttle with their dog, Betty.

Best Attendance The seventh week of the summer program boasted the best attendance so far this season—211 persons on a cumulative count.

Home Bought by Auto Executive

This attractive home of suburban architecture, located at 835 Pilgrim road in Quanton Lake Estates, was purchased by James Berger, who was recently appointed general manager for Oldsmobile by the Buick division of General Motors, Chicago, where he had charge of that territory for Oldsmobile. The former owners, Mr. and Mrs. Don O. Scott, have moved to South Bend, Ind. The deal was consummated by George W. Bennett, representing Mr. Scott, and Walsh, James & Wasey, representing the purchaser.

Science Adds What Man Takes Away

LANESING—"All don't forget the enriched food may well be the poster child for a grocery order in this year's 1941. To the average person, enriched flour may just seem like another flour. The millers and nutritionists know it is also good for helping the family to better health and to extra health.

The World will again have to suffer a serious shortage of vitamins and minerals. The fact that the body's stores are being depleted is a warning that the world's supply of these essential nutrients is being used up.

Builders The new house at 1015 S. 10th St. is the first of a new series of houses built by the city. The house is a single-story bungalow with a front porch and a central chimney. It is a good example of modern suburban architecture.

The city is now in the process of building a new sewer line along the 14-mile road. The new line will be 18 inches in diameter and will serve the area south of the road. The project is being completed by the city's public works department.

CITY

(Continued from Page One) It is a mystery. Helen, do you know what happened to the money? It isn't in its cage. Helen—No, ma'am. It was there while we were in the factory. I cleaned the cage with the vacuum cleaner.

PHASANTS WERE JUST Looking for Water

LANSING—W. H. Hunter of this city, owner of two suburban gardens, is advising his neighbors how to prevent pheasants from pecking at tomatoes and other vegetables. For some time, Hunter has had small cages filled with water about 2 1/2 inches during hot, dry weather. And never have pheasants of the variety bothered his crops, he says.

A Mystery Mother—Helen, do you know what happened to the money? It isn't in its cage. Helen—No, ma'am. It was there while we were in the factory. I cleaned the cage with the vacuum cleaner.

On Torrey Field break up... I am always afraid that some other child will be hurt," he declared.

Back in Rut. Commissioner Luther Heacock suggested that one trouble was the common practice of parking on the wrong side of the street.

Such Faith One day when Mr. Gadalis was walking, he discovered an old lady calmly seated on the grass in the middle of the highway.
