Betty Jane Harrack Wears White Taffeta Bridal Gown

A bridal gown of white taffeta was chosen by Betty Jane Harrack for her marriage to Peter M. Underwood, of Royal Oak, last Friday evening. The candle-light ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles C. Beckin at the First Methodist Church, which was decorated throughout with palms, ferns and white lilies.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bertha Mae Harrack, of Wallace street. Mr. Underwood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Underwood, of Maryland avenue, Royal Oak. Richard Randall Harrack, of Birmingham, acts as her sister away in marriage.

Miss Harrack's dress was fashioned with a tight bodice outlined by a sweetheart neckline, long tight sleeves coming to a point over the wrists, and a full gathered skirt ending in a sweeping train. She wore a long veil which was held in place by a pearl tiara and carried a bridal bouquet of white gladioli.

Mildred Johnson, maid of honor, wore a taffeta dress, made like the bride's gown, except for short puffed sleeves, of light rose. Her headpiece was a short rose-colored veil which was caught in place by a flower-stem. She carried pink gladioli. The bridesmaids' dresses were all of blue taffeta and were made similarly to Miss Johnson's gown. They all wore short blue veils and flower-tiaras and carried colored gladioli.

The bridesmaids were Trudy Allen, Ruth Miller, Virginia Hower, and Roberta Underwood, sister of the bridegroom. George H. Underwood, Jr., was his brother's best man, and ushers were Hugh Annette, Leslie Dawson, both of Royal Oak, and Robert Robinson and Bruce Randall, of Birmingham.

Miss Harrack chose a blue crepe gown with full pleated skirt and a short matching jacket for her daughter's wedding. She wore a corsage of purple gladioli and purple accessories. Mrs. Underwood wore a dress of Navy blue and white shadow lace, a corsage of pink lilies, and navy blue accessories.
