

Jam Local Buses During Detroit Strike

During the recent five-day bus and streetcar strike in Detroit, the Detroit-Pontiac-Claawson division of the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines (the Michigan-Bus System), really saw some rush hours. Extra busses were started all along the line, according to Tom Handyside, superintendent, and there were times when the local garage was empty of all its 38 busses.

Extra busses were started in Birmingham so that regular passengers were served before the buses became loaded in Royal Oak, Pontiac and Highland Park. Although the bus lines can pick up passengers in these three cities which are also served by the Greyhound, the drivers are not allowed to stop at persons inside Detroit's city limits. Coming busses were jammed here as well as those which carried passengers into the metropolitan area. Many Birmingham residents who usually drive their own cars into Detroit, turned to public transportation because of traffic and parking difficulties which the strike had caused in that city.

CARILLON

In Institute of the Royal Welsh Conservatory. In 1923, Anton Brees played the carillon at the War Memorial in Loughborough, England, where the famous Taylor Bell Foundry located which issued the order for Christ Church, Cambrai.

Bell coming to this country in 1936, he became the pioneer of approximately 20 carillons in America. He is the director of the first carillon school in the United States, where the East Singers, Florida, where the Institute is connected with the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

52 Bells in Carillon

There are 52 bells in the carillon at Christ Church. The largest bell weighs 6,700 pounds and the smallest, 10 pounds. They are made of bronze. The bells of the chimes stationary are played by the carillonneur from a clavier which is similar to the manuals and pedals of a piano. A system of levers connected with a clavier moves the clappers which come from the inside of the bells.

Other people enjoy coming to the festival to stroll about the grounds and especially around the Academy of Art where so many Carl Miller's.

BOY BITTEN BY DOG

James Tegner, 844 Pierce, reported to police Wednesday that he said he had taken the dog to a veterinarian's for 15 days' observation. The dog had no mauling at all, however, and disposed of that boy. Flag in the ash can, it is profanely offensive to all true communists.

"In the first place, this was not our official Russian flag, which bears hammer and sickle; and in the second place, even if it were, we could be legal to fly it," Mathews said.

"Also, I am not a Communist as has been rumored," Mathews laughed. "As a matter of fact, I don't know much about it."

One man said after inquiring as to the facts, they want their way, making no further comment.

THIS AND THAT

Europeans, and from those of Hitler we will be able to send them what we can in the way of physical armaments; left's policy as long as we can fit it, and the vast time comes to put our army and navy into the fray, and the vast majority of our people feel that we should, then, let him know that we would Joe Louis when landing his knock-out blow. Then, when it's all over, we'll make a treaty with Hitler and then begin the stupendous task of removing peace-time mal-adjustments, to the end that the peace will be held off as long as possible."

DR. HUTCHINS' IDEAS

And, now, for a few of Dr. Hutchins' thoughts upon the subject: "We are to defeat a doctrine we hate; is to shoot it at? We believe that that represents the military order—land, mines, and waterways—will solve the problem of the world? Are we so child-like as to suppose that the over-thrown of the Nazis will bring a just and lasting peace? Are we so frightened as to think that if only the Nazis are destroyed, we can be crushed, if only the Nazis can be beaten, will automatically disappear?"

"But we go on to preserve the British Empire and to crush the Germans; our fundamental problems will remain. We do not yet have our fundamental peace. The world is going to war again.

We do not make a just and lasting peace by writing into another treaty the fears, ignorance, and greed of the past."

He has just celebrated his 40th wedding anniversary.

Many times, he recalled he would sit over night at the old National Guard Armory.
