Christian Science Lecture Given Nov 30

in the Baldwin High School Auditorium, by Mr. Richard J. Davis, of San Jose, Calif.

What is a failure? What has happened to the thinking of a man who fails, and why has he failed? We need to know the difference between men and women carrying within their hearts the consciousness of fear that they have not succeeded well enough, but somewhere on the road they run into difficulties.

As you continue in the study of Christian Science, you will find that the emphasis of its teaching is very definitely laid on the demonstration of life, right here and now.

One of the most radical divisions of Christian Science and one of the most radical of all religions is the statement that disease is unreal.

It is important, therefore, to understand that we are not to be deceived by the identity as an individual spiritual consciousness.
