house and have the room as cool and moist as possible.

Few people give much thought to properly placing the tree in the room. It should be so placed that if it does catch fire it cannot block escape from the room, even if it falls over. Never should it be put close to a radiator or fire place.

A burning tree makes a furious and intense fire which is difficult to extinguish. Take no chances, call the fire department immediately. As an added safeguard, have a fire extinguisher handy, or at least a garden hose directly connected or buckets of water where they can be reached quickly.

Wax candles are still used in windows and on trees by a few people and each year cause needless losses of lives and property. Use only electric lights which have been tested for safety and approved by Underwriters' Laboratories. Be sure that your old light strings and all connections are in good condition. Short circuits have been responsible for many Christmas fires.

Do not overload electrical circuits with too many strings of lights. Directions are given on each set of approved light strings, telling how many can be safely connected together. Don't use in-door strings outdoors.

Lastly, your Christmas will be much happier and safer if you will keep away from trees all combustible material and such things as electric trains, toy knives, etc., which may cause a spark.

"We are definitely in the metropolitan defense area," Mayor John Martz said. "That means that if Detroit and Pontiac had a practice blackout, we must do the same."

Want Leg Information

Fred E. Reed, 341 E. Johnson, was present in regard to a letter from the recreation committee of the P. T. A. Council. Due to a hitch in plans, the rest of the delegation did not appear, but the letter was read anyway. It suggested that the City take the set at Quanton Lake and authorize the police to give out information on whether it was safe; also that notices be posted and the information be given to the press. Coasting hills for children were also suggested.

No action was taken, pending appearance of the full delegation.

Car Is Wrecked On Oak Street

Robert Ford Hogg, of Drayton Plains, 27-year-old orchestra leader, was severely cut when his car crashed into a fence on Oak Street, near the Postoffice, Sunday evening. He told police he was forced off the road by another car, police believe it may have been the same speaker who had eluded Patrolmen Robert Dunn and Sam Stronin. Hogg was given first aid at the Joseph's Hospital for numerous facial cuts and general body bruises. He was a total wreck.

ple who will volunteer to contribute to the blood bank.

Clubs and individuals are all invited to participate in this service. The Oakland County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Oakland County Council of Veterans, and the Oakland County Chapter of the American Legion are ready enthusiastically to throw their support to the service.

Few donors have yet been registered at the present time. At the present time four visits of the mobile unit have been arranged in Oakland County, according to Mr. Hogg. The first, on Jan. 6, will be to Bloomfield Hills; the second, on Jan. 13, to Birmingham; and Feb. 4, at Pontiac. More volunteers can be secured by contacting the same individuals interested in volunteering blood in Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, and Pontiac.

Mr. Hogg is on the student's side when it comes to swing and popular music. He has just as much respect for the great old swing band as for the modern jazz. orchestra—and the improvement is noticeable. "They are more advanced, than ever before," Berndt commented; "of course we have low school, but never as low as formerly."

In the fourth grade students wishing to join an orchestra are divided into two classes—winds and percussion, and strings. The year classes are combined in one class, but to orchestra or band training is given until junior high. At this time definite instruction is offered on every instrument and each student is required to attend at least one such class a week; this may be at private or school class in order to be a credit in the band or the orchestra. In junior high school high school no regular beginners classes are held, however, if a student wishes to begin them, he will receive individual help.

The Other Angle

The primary purpose of school training is not only to turn out musicians, but also to develop listener appreciation, which Berndt stresses, can only go as far as does participation in music. It was most interesting to learn that Mr.

devotion exact. "There is a well covered the unseen which not the strongest man nor even the strongest strength of all the strongest man, that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, faith, poetry, love, romance, can push with their certain word and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? An answer in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding."

Of course there's a Santa! And if there were a Santa, he would be the very first of the things we'd like to invent. Life would have love and a little childlike faith to be remarkable, and the very first of the things we'd like to invent.
