Safety Committee Distributes Placards

The Birmingham Safety Committee through the cooperation of the State Safety Council and the local police force, is displaying numerous safety placards at various places in the city.

"Now that our country is actually at war, it is doubly important that we do everything within reason to conserve man, woman and child power so that we may have our full fabilities for whatever job we may be called upon to perform," says Mrs. William E. Essery, temporary head of this committee.

"Members are studying plans now in actual operation in other cities having traffic conditions similar to our own. This is being done to familiarize members with all possible attacks to the general safety problem so that when the committee is permanently organized—which is expected early in January—they will already have some general knowledge as to a solution."

Winter Sport Park Ready for Business

GRAYLING—On account of new federal taxes, admission to Grayling winter sports park will cost a dime more—35 cents this season—but all other charges at the fog conservation department's snow sports center will be the same as they were last year.

The 3,100 foot slide downhill over ice in one of the six steel-sided terraced toboggan slides is still a 10 cent feature. Skis and snowshoes may be rented for a dollar a day. There is no charge for skating or any of the other activities.

Winter sports in the park now wait on favorable weather.

ARRESTED AS DISORDERLY

Oliver C. Kleine, of Franklin, was arrested Thursday evening at the McCall pool room on South Woodward avenue. When brought before Justice Forbes S. Hascall, he was given a 30-day suspended sentence for being disorderly.

Use Experts

Fort Knox, Ky.—A U. S. armored division, most highly mechanized of all the Army's land forces, requires thousands of skilled technicians to maintain and operate its thousands of armored vehicles and powerful weapons. Fully 50% of the soldiers of one of these ultra-mechanized divisions have specialist ratings or are noncommissioned officers.

Have You Met . . .

Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bournonais who are living at 244 West Brown street? They have owned their home out here for three years now, and just decided to move into town, coming to Birmingham from Detroit. Mrs. Bournonais is an instructor of social studies at the French school in Detroit, and Dr. Bournonais is a dentist, with offices in Detroit.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Holwerda who recently moved to 1150 West Lincoln from Detroit? Mrs. Holwerda is native of Palo Alto, Calif., and likes Birmingham because it reminds her so much of her former home. Mr. Holwerda is a representative of the North American Coal Corporation in Detroit.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wahl who are living in their new colonial farm house-type home at 19264 Riverside drive, Beverly Hills? Mr. Wahl, head of the firm bearing his name, decided to build for two years and finally decided that Birmingham was about the prettiest spot. Just a real find. Mr. Wahl is an engineer for Leeds and Northrup, Detroit.

* * *

The A. W. Farrells and their 10-month-old daughter, Kathleen Mary. The Farrells, who moved out from Detroit, liked the town and then too found the ideal spot to build the kind of a home they had always wanted—a rambling, white brick house with a tendency toward being modern. Mr. Farrell is an advertising salesman for the Detroit News.

* * *

The Robert W. Straughns who moved in here from Indianapolis last June, and are living in the Town and Country Apartments? They came to Birmingham because they knew a couple who lived here and were crazy about the town. The Straughn's hobbies seem to run quite big and fashion, also as for sports, ping pong and golf. Mr. Straughn is employed in the Ampleo Division of the Chrysler Corporation in Detroit.

PAYS $40 FINE

Albert Dec. 14 on a traffic charge, before Justice James B. Pascoe. Dewey paid a $40 fine and costs of $5.80. He was arrested by Officer Ed Hall on Bloomfield Hills road.

Compound Interest

Mrs. Minnie Stoney: "I hadn't seen Ben for so long that I'd forgotten how much I'd loved him. But when I saw him again I knew my love had doubled itself."

Save On Shells.
Fort Knox, Ky.—One of the most money-saving units of the Army today is the gunnery department of the Armored Force School. In the indoor tank firing practice range, they have a sub-caliber device which makes possible the firing of a .22 caliber bullet from the 37 millimeter gun. A 37 millimeter shell costs $4.35, a .22 caliber bullet about ½ cent.
