John G. Gillette to Wed Bronxville, N.Y., Girl

Miss Woods

Birmingham and Bloomfield were much interested this weekend over the news of the engagement of Margaret Rolling Woods, daughter of Mrs. Forrest Hyde, of Lawrence Park, Bronxville N. Y., and the late Samuel Baker Woods, Jr., to John Westfield Gillette, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Gillette, Jr., of Wing Lake road. Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hyde announced the engagement at tea on Sunday afternoon in their home.

Mr. Gillette was graduated from Westminister School in 1936, and later from Williams College, where he was affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He is now stationed at Fine Bluff, Ark., where he is a cadet in the army air corps. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Woods is a graduate of Chatham Hall and Sweet Briar College. She is a provisional member of the Bronxville League for Service. Miss Woods is a descendant of a long line of Virginians, her great grandfather, Col. John Garrister, was a revolutionary patriot and signer of the Articles of Confederation.

GIRL SCOUTS

Notice the Christmas news creeping into our columns? What with troop dolings . . .

Troop 5, Barnum School, averages 28 girls in attendance each week. Many activities are under way and badges of all kinds are being completed. Mothers of troop 5 are always willing to cooperate. Monday, Mrs. Earl Brody acted as guest leader in Mrs. Schadt's absence.

The Girls of Troop 5, Senior Group, are at present knitting for the British War Relief. Dollie Moore is the new troop treasurer.

Troop 9, at Wallace Lake, is discussing plans for a Christmas Give. Toys are being collected for Christmas Community gifts.

Arts and Crafts continue as the field of greatest interest. Bracelets of luster-lacing in varied colors have been made by all of the troop members this fall.

Sharon Murphy of Troop 17, Holy Name School, spent Thanksgiving vacation in Washington, D. C., with her uncle, Justice Frank Murphy. At the last troop meeting she told about her visit to the White House.

Troop 17 members are busy as bees making their Christmas dolls. They expect to entertain them at a week at the Community House to the Scout leaders of Birmingham.

Unstable Adult Conditions Causing Rise in Child Delinquency, AWVS Told

By Lillian Diederich

Arthur E. Moore, judge of Probate and Juvenile Courts, addressed the American Women's Voluntary Service class on Preparedness, Monday afternoon in the Community House. His talk supplemented one given by Ross P. Tenney, superintendent of the Juvenile Home, Oakland County, who spoke at length on "Delinquency." "The most important step in preparedness," said Mr. Tenney, "is the protection of children, and Probate Court by taking problem girls out of circulation for a time, and placing them in institutions where they receive proper care and training, is very often the means of changing juveniles having delinquent tendencies into worthwhile youthful citizens.

Delinquency Increasing

"Delinquency is increasing at an alarming rate," continued Mr. Tenney. "But I believe it is the fact that children directly react to the influences around about them especially to the disturbed attitudes and adult minds surrounded by these chaotic times. Children feel the unrest and so become antisocial.

"Lack of home guidance is a contributing factor. Children often left alone, yearn for companionship and soon look to outside interests often found in undesirable companionships to supplement the lack," he stated.

Mr. Tenney stressed the fact that over 5,000 boys and girls each year in Michigan alone are found guilty of repeated truancy, petty and sex irregularities. Most of these rate fairly high in intelligence but lacking in discrimination and environment, coupled with the rapid pace of living, have suffered from kindergarten up to a slow process of revelation in the art of living together. Children are divorced parents are sometimes tossed back and forth from one parent to the other, and forced to listen to slanderous accusations each has to say against the other, about the child himself. Child has suffered and loved, so that the pattern of his life is confused and lost in child mind, and in time a hotbed of maladjustments are formulated.

Judge Moore Talks

Judge Arthur E. Moore said: "Every woman should know where to go and what to do should the need arise where a crippled or neglected child or poor girl requires needs medical or training. Probate Court and only has charge of delinquent cases, and neglected children, and Judge Moore believes less formality should exist in courts and a good deal more humanity.

A question and answer period followed. Mrs. G. N. Pydoppliced that if parents and their children could gather 'round the dining room table, as of old, and read and study together, help, fight and hold the knit closer, companionship would be found within the family circle and not sought elsewhere. But the table has disappeared.
