Judge Moore Lays Boarding Project

Oakland County's new plan of boarding out delinquent children instead of sending them to reform school is working beyond expectation.

Not only does the plan cut cost, but results are far ahead. Judge Moore told the Exchange Club Tuesday noon.

He pointed out to Exchanges how much better it is to board out delinquent children in a normal home, usually rural, than in a school, and then to vocational school where there are 40 boys in one cottage, and their leadership often comes from a young but hardened criminal.

Ninety per cent of our adult criminals are those who get started in youth on the wrong foot, he said.

Following members of the Baldwin High School Club have volunteered their services in a number of capacities.

At the same meeting, Past President J. B. Minton was presented with a plaque.

As a result of this study, resolutions will be prepared concerning a more unified and effective school to occupy the remaining portion.

On receiving his doctorate at University of Chicago in 1929, he won numerous fellowships and traveled abroad extensively.

Wagner challenged the Board's estimate of light, heat and janitor service costs.
