

Betty Minor Forsyth Sets February 8 As Date of Marriage to Ted Mack

Nuptial Parties Begin Today With Lovely Tea and Shower

It's gay and exciting news that reaches us from Betty Minor Forsyth today. It's all about her approaching marriage to Ted Mack and the date of Feb. 8 which has been set for this most important of all occasions.

The ceremony, need it be mentioned, is to be read at St. James Episcopal Church and assisted by Betty Minor's father, the Rev. Warner L. Forsyth, will be Bishop Herman Papp, former bishop of the Michigan diocese.

Jean Baker will leave her studies at the University of Michigan, long enough to come home to be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Nancy Fisher, Betty Ann Pease, Marilyn Prussing, of Birmingham, and Isabel Bradbeer, of Detroit.

Mary Jean Forsyth will be her sister's junior bridesmaid.

James Mack, of Newport, Ia., is to be best man for his brother and there will be Lance C. Minor, James O'Rourke, David White and Thomas R. Walton, Jr.

Mrs. E. F. Merritt, of Baldwin woods, will entertain this afternoon at a tea and shower at her home at Baldwin woods and Saturday afternoon Marilyn Prussing and her mother, Mrs. H. A. Prussing, of South Brookwood road.

Senior Reception Attracts Parents, Students Alike

A lovely custom that has been going on for something like thirty years is the annual Sunday afternoon reception at the Community House which honors the University graduating class of Baldwin High School.

In charge of arrangements for this year's reception was Mrs. John F. Staples and working with her was a committee of parents composed of Mrs. Ernest W. Seasholtz, Mrs. A. D. Russell, Mrs. Frances M. Frantz, Mrs. Mervin C. Mer, Mrs. E. H. Cooper, Mrs. Hal H. Houghton, Mrs. Edward S. Clark, Mrs. C. B. Hartstiff and Mrs. George Roanits.

In the receiving line were the class officers: Frank Armstrong, Robert Petropiece, Doris Franklin and Suzanne Sharp, Marie Russell, Mr. Russell, Mrs. Franklin, Mrs. Frances Lowry and Miss Vida B. McGiffin, class sponsors.

The tea table was covered with a maroon cloth and the setting was lighted by burning white tapers thus carrying out the school's colors.

Pressing around the tea table were Mrs. J. Roberts, Mrs. George Roanits, Mrs. Hartstiff, Mrs. Emily Walker and Miss Violet Halladay.

Parties to Follow One-Acts Saturday By the Players

Saturday evening will see members of the Village Players streaming toward the Playhouse for their monthly meeting. A number of parties are being planned including the buffet supper which Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Lander, of Ambler road, will give following the performance.

The W. Carlton Scotts, of Glenhurst avenue, will be hosts to a small group of friends for supper following the plays and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Clark, of Brookside drive, will entertain a dinner preceding the program. Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cowan, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond and Mr. and Mrs. E. Price Kimbrough, Jr.

Mrs. Ruth Saunders, in chairman of the "afterglow" which will follow the three one-act plays. Working with her are Mrs. Charles E. Cooney, Mrs. George L. Hurd, Mrs. Claude L. Cray, Mrs. Lloyd S. Linton and Mrs. Arthur W. Lee.

Members of the Birmingham Men's Ice club and their wives will be guests at this "afterglow." A. Shanley Rosso is director of the ice club.

"Farwell to Love," "The Captain" and "A Husband for Breakfast" are the three plays to be given at the Playhouse.

Glass beads are added to the paint in the highway signposting stripe in Montana, making the stripe more visible at night by signaling and reflecting the light from the headlights.

William O. Earls Spend Busy Sunday

A bronze medal for probably the most ambitious and satisfying work we know goes to Mr. and Mrs. William O. Earls, of West Lake road.

It was last Sunday that the Earls had Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams and their children, Barbara and Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scherer and their three children and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Freydl, all of Detroit, out for a day in the Great Outdoors.

It was a day that consisted in the main of ice-angling and bowling and just enough time for dinner at the Fox and a round of golf at the Fox and a round of golf at the Fox.

This athletic streak really isn't anything new though. Mr. Earls, who says they do a nearly every Sunday.

Ski Enthusiasts Spend Week End At Vanderbilt

If you've got a notion that skiing isn't going down this year it should have tried to get a ride on the ski train that tumbled out of Detroit last week end.

Twenty-two enthusiasts plus all the equipment necessary to a well rounded out skier there was packed in the room enough to wedge in between the seats.

This was the first ski train of the season and judging by its success more can be expected in the immediate future. In fact plans were being made as early as Monday morning for another train for this week end.

Birmingham and Bloomfield is packed with ardent skiers. Up at Vanderbilt last week end were Mr. and Mrs. George Seloman, both, the S. Gordon Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLoath, Mrs. George and Bruce Van Dusen, Mr. and Mrs. Mergener A. Reed.

There was also a group of Kingwood girls who went up. There was Patzy Smith, Anne Welch, Elizabeth Smith, Marjorie Wood, Kitty Wallace and Jane Mackulsky. They were chaperoned by Miss Mary Maury Fink.
