LITTLE GIRL

Tragedy stalked along her way.
She came
To me, her big eyes brimming full of tears
And laid her head against my heart, the same
As in her baby days; while nameless fears
Waylaid me, until after I had found
She was not hurt nor ill. A little mound
Of shattered bits filled both her hands; some token
Treasured for friendship's sake, which she had broken.
"No broken thing," I said, "is worth your tears,
Except a broken heart." God grant the years
That claim her childhood treasures one by one
May keep her heart intact till time is done.

Mary Louise Kern And David Viger Engagement Told

Mary Louise Kern's engagement to David Viger was very cleverly announced on Sunday afternoon at a cocktail party in the home of Mary Louise's parents, the Otto Kerns, on Squirrel road.

Mr. Viger is the son of the Ivan T. Vigers, of Fairway drive, Detroit.

The actual news of the engagement was told in a variety of ways —a pair of cupids, floating over the garden flower centerpieces on the main table, carried the names of the engaged couple.

—Deitch-Nevin Photo
Miss Kern

Colored balloons found floating around were found to have news of the engagement inside them, and the cocktail napkins were also printed in red with the names of the pair.

Completing the party's color scheme of red and white, Mary Louise wore a dainty summer dinner dress of red and white candy stripes. Small tables were spread around the lawn and terrace were covered with red and white polka dot paque cloths.

Mary Louise was graduated from Kingswood and Erskine Schools. She made her debut in 1939 at the Kern home in the Hills. Mr. Viger graduated from Country Day School and Brown University and also attended Harvard University law school for a time. No date has been set for the wedding.
