

"As Truly American"

"As Maple Syrup"

The residence is of masonry and comprises the following rooms:

First Floor: Spacious living and dining rooms both opening onto a tremendous screened porch; fine parlor; butler's pantry; kitchen; servants' room and bath.

Second Floor: Every roomy bedroom and 2 tile baths.

A warm air heating unit operating by a boiler supplies heat at a minimum expense. All water conditioning and well equipment is like new.

You will like the setting—about 1/2 acre with natural foliage augmented by many evergreens and shrubs. Near the residence is a child's playhouse and not far removed a wading pool.

Here is a property that is so homely and informal that it will captivate you at first glance and the taxes are less than $150 annually.

A new Wednesday morning over-the-counter shops will begin next week at the Birmingham Theatre. Howard E. Holak, manager, has announced the program will consist of a show starting from 2 until 5—only one feature plus short subjects of special interest to women, it was said. Holak believes that women who have gone to nearby lakes for the summer and make infrequent trips to Birmingham will welcome the new matinee in the air-conditioned theatre. "Wood and Sand" will be the feature on the opening Wednesday.

NEARLY New AND

VERY nice is this Colonial home in the heart of Quarton Lake Estates. The site has a frontage of 110 feet on Sufferd Road which is only two blocks from Quarton School.

FIVE bedrooms and three baths will take good care of an average sized family and the first floor plan has an ample hall, a knotty pine library, etc. The paneled Recreation room and Bar are attractive, too, with the floor covering—mastic tile.

MANY people in Birmingham are paying a great deal more for smaller and less satisfactory housing than it would cost you to own this home! Insulated throughout, the modern heating plant shows the job for less than $12 per month.

THE price of labor and material. Better see it today and then protect yourself against rising prices.

Parked Car Hit By Unknown Auto. Police say wondering who the auto driver is who hit a parked car Saturday night and failed to stop. The victim was Clark C. Gaulton, 287 Ravine road. His car was parked in front of his home. At 12:30 a. m. Sunday, however, 55 police, 272 Ravine reported to police that a black Ford car side-swiped Gaulton's standing and did not stop. The right side of the Ford was damaged. Coulter reported the incident.

Greater Farm Market. Michigan farmers' market 23 times as big a state market as they had a generation ago. This is illustrated in the Michigan Dairy for Michigan Prosperity campaign. Sixty cents per gallon today each grower has 5,000 such pounds.
