Alleman, on Tour, Finds Quints Beneficial
Michigan; State Employs Tourist Boom

By GENE ALLEMAN
Michigan Press Association
LANSING—Five little girls, who are chiefly responsible for the tourist boom in Michigan, are the quints of a Canadian tourist attraction.

This latter fact dawned upon us rather belatedly after we had reported that the quints had been seen at Toronto scenic points with American editors from seven other states. For this reason, the quints have a peculiar interest in the world famous quints of Callender.

The quints of Callender are a family of five girls, who were born in 1934. They are the quints of a Canadian tourist attraction.

Good highways and dependable automobiles make it possible for Michigan people to swing around to North Bay neighborhood in Callender, Ontario, by way of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

Million-Dollar Babies
By courtesies of Keith Babler, business manager of the quints, our party was accorded the rare privilege of meeting the quints at the Dionnes, the fifth since their birth, and a meeting with Dr. Da-

More on Waterway
A short time ago the Governor of the twelve States of North Dakota, Governor John Moses of North Dakota, and Governor H. Klussen of Minnesota appeared before the Senate on Rivers and Harbors in support of the St. Lawrence waterway project.

They Sing in French
The five little girls, each dressed identically in blue velvet and white, emerged from the nursery, accompanied by two nurses.

old ideas continued to fret about the probability of gas rationing. Two weeks ago the Association of A. & P. in the Railroad in the Southeast to eliminate all excursions in order to facilitate troop movements.

We're Travel-Minded
For many years the Canadians have been good customers of Michigan. They enjoyed coming to our state. They spent their money here freely.

Travelers' Club
Travelers' Club for example, during a recent year, its 1939-40 Festival, nearly raised $100,000 for the Red Cross.

Town of the Quints Built
Until a country doctor, Dr. Alvan Ray Duff, brought the five little girls to Lansing, Mich., an years ago last May, North Bay was a mere trading center in north Michigan.
