The Rev. Charles H. Cadigan, assistant rector of Christ Church, Cranbrook, sat under and within the fringe of a decorative palm tree on the platform in Baldwin High School auditorium Thursday evening of last week, where he delivered the invocation at the Commencement exercises. To sit absolutely still for an hour or two is not possible to any human, and preachers are quite human. That's why, as the rector moved from side to side to trim his hair, or the back of his neck. 'Twas a case, in part, of not being too much tickled over being tickled.

City Manager Don Ebert is leaving at the end of the week for his vacation. Don is an avid fisherman and very likely will be burned to a crisp which he returns. He will angle in Saginaw Bay.

Those of the DFW who are not clearing are busy filing their declarations. The Eccentric has learned. The Commission read last week that all employees must be citizens.
