Catholic Troop Will Be Honored

Birmingham's newest Boy Scout Troop B-12, will hold its formal investiture ceremony Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Holy Name Church. The Rev. Fr. Leo Sheltrean, chaplain for Catholic Scouts in the Detroit Area Council, will be the guest speaker at this colorful ritual.

Eight boys will be welcomed into this new troop which is sponsored by the local Catholic parish, according to the Rev. Fr. Lawrence V. Hamel, assistant pastor and troop chaplain, the troop flag, badges, and the Scout neckerchiefs will be blessed in this ceremony.

Members of the parish, local Scouters, and friends have been invited to attend. Paul Savage is the troop's scoutmaster and Henry L. Foley is chairman of the troop committee. Efforts for the official registration was first begun by Jack Dunn, former Birmingham Scout who is now in the naval service.

Props Are Ready For the Play

Furnishings, sound effects and lights are all arranged for the play "Tish" to be given tonight and tomorrow night in the Baldwin High School auditorium, under the general direction of Miss Ruth Hull.

Anska Peterson and Spencer Neal were in charge of getting all the furniture for the play. As California is the locale of the play, Mexican furniture is being used.

Henry Dahlquist was in charge of delivering the props to the stage.

The important job of sound effects is being held by Fletcher Grant and Jack York.

Lighting for the play is in charge of John Finch.

"Matter" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 23.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 40:6, 7) is: "All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field: the grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Isaiah 51:16): "Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 261): "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. These must disappear before the permanent facts and their perfection in Spirit appear."

Costume Dramalog Sunday at Church

Artis Alling, gifted young American diseuse, will present her program, "Costume Dramalog of Bible Stories," at Christ Church Cranbrook this coming Sunday, March 23, at 4 p. m. Miss Alling presents a program of dramatized stories from the Old and New Testament. Her program at Christ Church includes the following

Miss Alling

dramalogues: "The Story of Ruth," "Magda," "The Resurrection."

Miss Alling has lived in the Holy Land and has made a special study of people and places of Biblical association. She brought back a large collection of authentic costumes which she wears.

Each dramalog has in addition to its pictorial and dramatic appeal a specially arranged musical score to create the atmosphere and denote time interludes. This will be played by E. W. Hill, organist of Christ Church Cranbrook.

"Her perfect sincerity, deep reverence, and masterful technique give this high dramatic qualities but in the theatrical effects. This program makes the great literature of the Scriptures live and take form so that the centuries are bridged and we walk again in the Holy Land, seeing the incidents that have become so dear to us re-enacted. We hear again the inspiring words from the Old and New Testaments bringing their message of courage and faith and hope," it was said.

Methodist Choir To Hear Zimbalist

DEARBORN, Mich.—The Methodist Church Choir will be represented by 45 of its members at the Ford Sunday Evening Hour broadcast in Detroit, Sunday night, March 30.

Efrem Zimbalist, one of the world's greatest violinists, will be the guest artist on the Sunday Evening Hour. On the same program the song Richard Wagner wrote for the birthday of his wife, 67 years ago, will be presented for the first time in America.

Mr. Zimbalist, whose artistry has been acclaimed for more than 30 years, will be heard in "Havanaise" by Saint-Saens, "Prize Song" by Wagner and "Perpetuum Mobile" by Novacek.

Football Club Shown Movies

The Baldwin High School Football Club was shown moving pictures of last years Wayne-Birmingham game and some of this year's training camp games, last week at club dues.

There are approximately 50 boys in the club which is sponsored by Coach George Wearsler. The technique of blocking and tackling is studied. During a regular season it is practically impossible for Coach Wearsler to give individual attention to punters and passers due to the fact that football has grown in Birmingham to the point where 80 or 100 boys report out for the team each day, and naturally too much time for the individual means lack of action for the mass.

APPLE GROWERS TO MEET

Members of the Michigan Apple Commission, including C. C. Tiscornia, the Secretary, will meet with fruit growers in Oakland County at the T. M. C. A. Auditorium, 330 Cass Street, Pontiac, Friday, March 21, at 1:30 p. m.

Don Hootman, extension specialist of Michigan State College, will also attend the meeting, purpose of which is to enable growers to express their opinions about changes to be made in the present apple market laws.

B-12

A formal installation ceremony for the new Troop B-12 will take place at 8:00 p. m. Sunday, March 23 in Holy Name Church. The ceremony, which will be very impressive, will be conducted by James McKenna and Mr. Austin, representing the Detroit Area Council. Paul Savage is scoutmaster and Mr. Henry Foley is troop committee chairman of the new troop. All Scouts and Scouters are invited to attend the installation.

B-11

The Scouts of Troop B-11 will cook their own meals when they go to Camp George this week-end. Two weeks ago, Commissioner Fred Zoellin attended the troop meeting and explained methods used by Troop B-11 in individual and patrol cooking, and this week the boys will have a chance to show how well they learned their lessons. It is with some trepidation that your scribes await the outcome of this experiment, for we will probably be expected to consume some of the concoctions produced by our younger fellow-Scouts. We are especially wary of the open-coast as in No. 10 can and expect to see many variations of the method. Scoutmaster Eberole will be relieved, though.

B-4

Twenty-seven Tenderfoot Scouts have been registered in Troop B-4 since last September, running the troop membership up to 47 problems for Scoutmaster Bill Hooper.

Methodists Repair Pipe Organ

The pipe organ of the First Methodist Church is undergoing extensive improvements. The old action will be replaced by a electro-pneumatic action. Any defective pipes will be replaced by new ones, or other necessary alterations will put the organ in first-class condition. Mechanics are working in the building this week. The church has been without the use of the organ for two Sundays and may be without it one more, but not more than that, according to the Rev. C. C. Becker, minister.

NEW YORK—To keep pace with the rapidly growing United States defense forces, the Young Men's Christian Association has expanded its army and navy service to 55 branches and will open as many more as fast as facilities can be obtained, Eugene E. Barnett, national general secretary, said recently.

BIG BEAVER—To raise money to buy robes for the Big Beaver Church choir, two short plays will be presented in the church, March 21, at 8 p. m. in the church parlors. One of the plays is a comedy, "Sewing for the Heathen," and the cast includes Jessie Pfeiffenberger, Florence Carpenter, Evelyn Shore, Hazel Garwick, Sadie Strebe, Edna Hall, Marion Wagner, Clara Strong, and Dorothy Spencer. "Son's Ear" by Patricia Kane is the other play and is written around the proverb. The committee in charge is Mary James, Jessie Fiebelkorn and Florence Carpenter.

Michigan grows good corn

Sturdy hybrid strains of corn, adapted to local conditions, have been developed by private breeders and by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station. Hybrids produce strong stalks, even ears, and a profitable yield.

RARELY thought of as a "corn-belt" state, Michigan nevertheless ranks eleventh in the production of this biggest of American grain crops. The corn grown each year on the farms of Michigan would provide two bushels for every home in the nation.

Whether he has a telephone or not, every farmer who grows or feeds corn benefits from the part modern telephone service plays in reporting up-to-the-minute price quotations, in the prompt delivery of seed, implements and stock, and in the process of marketing that moves his products to the consumer.

All along the line, from plowing to husking, from corn-crib to dinner-table, your Telephone Company helps to carry on the job of production and conservation of food—a vital link in the National Defense.

Much of Michigan's corn goes into the feeding of livestock. The state's farm income from meat animals in 1939 was about $50,000,000. The Michigan housewife buys corn almost every day in the form of steak or pork chops, eggs or milk.
