"Do you want to shut the door and prevent me to build new homes in Birmingham?" Moody asked.

"I don't believe it," Moody countered.

Thousands on Books. City Manager Donald C. Ebert added that he believed that "capital improvements" should be curtailed. He revealed that the current budget included $5,000 for paying the city's share on special assessments; that the new budget will include $7,000.

"Up to now we haven't felt the pinch for money but we will, my friends, in that two or three years, hence, no one knows what is going to happen."

When the commissioners who voted against rejection of the oiling project appeared to feel that the amount involved was too small to become an issue, Palmer said that no vote was necessary.

"If you don't start now, when you begin insisting on putting his motion," Moody said.

Baldwin Library Adds Many New Juvenile Books

(By LINDA MOORE)

The Literary Critic was annoyed. He gazed at the Newest Book, covered with a fine blue cover and bound in a soft blue cloth. It was the new book he had bought for the third time.

"I'm a member of the Baldwin Library and I've got a shelf full of books," he said. "I've got a shelf full of books and I've got a shelf full of books."
