

Inflation Was Greatest Cause of Fascism in Europe, Warns Dr. Buell

(Editor's note—Problems of inflation and labor relations are touched upon in this abstract of a speech given in Detroit by Dr. Raymond Leslie Buell, the speaker lectured in Birmingham but emphasized foreign rather than domestic affairs. The remarks presented herewith give Dr. Buell's principal ideas on "The Threat of Hitler.")

The two dangers confronting America today are lack of an anti-inflation policy and an equitable labor policy here at home. If we don't soon remedy these, the prospect of Hitler's defeat will be going remote.

Recently this country has been going through one of the most rapid price increases in history. Already we have entered an inflationary period in which purchasing power is increasing more rapidly than consumer goods are being produced.

Force Against Democracy
Inflation is the greatest cause of Fascism in Europe. It is the greatest force working against democracy in the U. S. today.

By their price-rising will not prevent inflation. The only way of stopping it is to finance armaments through increased taxes, on the one hand, and real savings on the other. It is up to government to propose a program.

Capital, for its part, fears that labor aided by government wishes to impose the closed shop on industry, and fasten such huge wage and tax burdens that private enterprise cannot possibly function after the war.
