

Committees Named for A. A. U. W. Book Sale, Opening Saturday, Oct. 11

First Editions, Rare Books Found At Sales in Past

On Saturday, Oct. 11, at 9:00 the annual A. A. U. W. book sale will open its doors to the public at 150 South Woodward. The sale will continue through Oct. 18.

In the past, many rare books and first editions have been found by those who visited the sale. Last year there was a complete set of Harvard Classics in excellent condition. There are many children's text books and story books, and new books of fiction, including a book of the Month selections, a Magazine, sheet music, records, pictures and games are included in the sale.

The proceeds are divided between the Saturday Club, worthwhile community project for children, and the Student Loan Fund. For four years, this sale has made it possible for A. A. U. W. to contribute to similar undertakings.

Mrs. Max Roensch, general chairman, is being assisted by the following committees: Mrs. Merle P. Bailey, solicitation chairman, has the following on her committee: Mrs. Warren Sticker, Mrs. E. H. Entertainers for the Barnum P.-T.A. Fair

The Stars and Stripes Dance, depicted above, will be part of the entertainment at the Barnum School Fair being held next week, Oct. 15, at the school house. The fair itself will start at 1:30 p. m., but the biggest crowds are expected from 6 to 7:30 p. m., which is when the Gaietyra dinner will be served. All refreshments are operating both for the dinner and booths.

The general show will start at 8 p. m. in the auditorium and will last until 11 o'clock. There will be music by an accordion band, a short comedy movie, a pageant, and the dance program, which is being put on by the pupils of Frances Wade, of Detroit.

For the scenic dance that follows the show, an accordion band by name of Charles LeFevre and the Stilling Mites, has been obtained from Redford. The band consists of the leader, two girls and three boys, one of the latter being the Birmingham Gene Fumble, who will later give a boogie twirling exhibition.

During the dance the following impressive array of door prizes will be given out: Torrence Oil Company, 75 gallons of fuel oil; Virginia Mead Market, one colored ham; Beck Cement, dress of fabric; McKee's Station, five gallons of gas; Air-Kel Friendly Service, five gallons of gas; Keith and Sander's Cleaners, dress or suit cleaned; Lawson's Coal Co., one half ton of coal; Parks Coal Co., one half ton of coal; and John F. Katter, five quart of Fleeting motor oil.

Miss Stanley Chooses Ivory Satin Gown For Wedding to Richard Sherman, Jr.

Traditional heavy ivory satin was Virginia Stanley's choice for her wedding gown for her marriage to Richard Uddick Sherman, Jr., which took place last Saturday evening at the St. James Episcopal church. The Rev. Warner L. Forch led the nuptial services before a gathering of about 100 guests and witnesses. Flanking the bride and groom were the bridesmaids, who wore great white dresses and tiaras of the church. Virginia is the daughter of Mrs. Street Coleman Stanley, of Kenosha avenue, and Mrs. Richard Sherman, of Utica, N. Y.

The ivory gown, fashioned after the lines of the Forties, was made with a long fitted bodice from which fell a full skirt ending in a long train. The bodice had a high round neckline with wide bands of lace through the sleeves and across the front. The long fitted bodice, long fitted sleeves, and a double veil, held in place by the bride and groom, and a bouquet of white orchids, roses and stephanotis.

Janet Stanley, sister of the bride, and George Arthur Howell, of Atlanta, Ga., sister of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids and wore long, fitted, long-sleeved dresses with long trains. They wore like tiaras of tulle and tulle, having long fitted bodices with wide necklines and bracelet-length sleeves. They wore tulle hair hats, topped with long veils, and carried bouquets of Tulsima dahlias.

The bridesmaids wore gowns made like those of honor attendants of light green tulle, with ruffled high collars and carried bouquets of pale yellow daisies. They wore Betty Ann Pease, Evelyn Wrayne, and Elizabeth Lee Norris, of Birmingham.

The best man was William Hamerton, of Philadelphia, Pa., and the groomsmen were Henry Miller, Jr., and James S. Korman, of Uppa, Russel Stogard, of Woodbridge, Va., Daniel S. Howard, Jr., of Houston, Texas, Thomas B. Biege, of Buffalo, Arthur Lowrey, of Washington, D. C., Daniel Nindor, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and George Arthur Howell, of Atlanta, Ga.

The bride wore a gown of ivory rose lace, a rose feather hat and

Alpha Chi Plans To Help Support Hostel in Britain

A defense program, which will help support a hostel for homeless children in Britain, was announced by the local branch of Alpha Chi Omega at its monthly meeting last night at the home of Mrs. E. M. Galt, 456 Linden with 43 present.

William E. Thompson, of Ferndale, was appointed chairman of the program. Miss Miriam Lane, president of the local group gave her report of national convention in Pasadena, California, which she attended in June with John Painter and Mrs. Thomas H. Adams. Mrs. William H. Thompson showed colored pictures which she took at the convention.

Constitutional action included the decision to give a permanent endowment to the fraternity's Student Body which is part of the MacDowell College at Peterborough, New Hampshire, a refuge for creative artists and which Alpha Chi Omega has supported since 1908. Also work is to be continued on the home for older Alpha Chis which will be held as soon as the fund reaches large enough proportions.

New officers for Alpha Omega Alpha chapter at Alpha Chi Omega include: vice-president, Mrs. C. W. Crockett; corresponding secretary, Frances Jean O'Connor; Pontiac, recording secretary, Mrs. Milo Bostwick; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. H. Underwood; and local editor, Nativity Lewis Brown.
