Outstanding Speakers Scheduled for Birmingham AAUW, Program Reveals

Mrs. Whitlatch Outlines Meetings For Coming Year

At the opening fall meeting of the Birmingham Branch of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. R. H. Whitlatch, program chairman, outlined the year's program, which includes eight outstanding speakers. The first of these, Mrs. Irene Ellis Murphy, was heard last week. She explained the shortage of domestic help and also discussed social problems resulting from the changing economic order.

Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, who is mayor of the city of Plymouth, is to be the featured speaker for the October meeting. She will draw on her personal experiences in political and home life for her talk. The State AAUW president, Mrs. Martha Sawyer, is coming to Birmingham for the November meeting.

"Icterus Invincible" will be Mrs. Henry Fradken's topic for the December meeting. Mrs. Fradken is a chemical engineer for the U. S.

government, and is an authority on making flying invincible. The January meeting will be an evening affair, with Mrs. Martha Colby, associate professor of psychology, and research associate in the University Elementary School, as the main speaker. Mrs. Colby is the former editorial assistant of "Out Look" magazine and author of research manuscripts. Her topic will be "Experimental Studies of Public Opinion on Present World Crisis Among University Students."

Mrs. A. L. Newcomb, of Birmingham is to give a play, after the style of Comedia Ora Skinner. Mrs. Newcomb trained at Hedgerow Theatre after college and played in various stock companies. Mrs. Newcomb will appear for the February meeting of the club and for March the AAUW will hold what is known as "International Relations Night." William G. Johnstone, Jr., professor of political science at George Washington University, is to be the guest. His topic being "The Struggle For the South Pacific." He has had extensive travel experiences in Europe and the Far East and will discuss in detail the Dutch East Indies.

Mrs. Rebecca Smith, metallurgist for the United States government, has been engaged to talk to the Baldwin High School seniors, who each year are guests of the AAUW at its April meeting. She will speak on "Vocations for Women" and also of the opportunities in her own field. The annual meeting in May will conclude the AAUW's program for the year.

Name Cast and Directors For "Players at Work"

Plans for "Players at Work," an evening of entertainment being sponsored by the Village Players for prospective members and friends, are fast being completed. The whole program is to be under the direction of Mrs. Linton Hart, and George M. Dawley has been selected as general commentator for the affair, which will take place on Sunday, Oct. 5.

"Sidewalk Cafe" is a musical pantomime, to be the first skit presented that evening; it is under the direction of Ward Pelham, music arranged and the cast includes Mrs. Thomas Klingensmith, Warren Dean, Frank McGinnis, Edward S. Reid and Mrs. Tolbert.

Ring Lardner's "Project of Greva" will be put on by Dr. George P. Rayhale, Rolfe V. Spinning, and Lane Bishop, as the second part of the program.

Mrs. George M. Dawley has written the first skit illustrating the "Players at Work."

Ward Pelham will represent the music committee, Mrs. Edward S. Reid, the direction committee; Mrs. Allan W. Jeffery and Mrs. Evenden Clark Forded will represent the work of the make-up committee; for prospective members and friends are fast being completed. Mrs. Cane Bishop and Mrs. Robert K. Edmonds are to show how the costume workers function, representing the lighting committee will be Alfred W. Dosiey, while A. J. Hart and Harold Maddeton are to illustrate the stage committees' duties, and John P. Moore will represent the scenic committee.

On the year-round committee roster, Lane Bishop is to be in charge of scenic design and Mrs. Lane Bishop, the historian.

Embury Women To Elect Officers

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Embury Methodist Church will elect officers for the coming year. This next Wednesday afternoon, at the church, Potluck luncheon will be served at 1:15, a talent program presented, and election of officers will be held for the coming year.

The W. S. C. S., under the direction of Mrs. Victor Ogden, was organized according to the new Methodist set-up last year. During this past year, the Society has furthered the entire program of Embury Methodist Church and has cooperated in missionary and community projects.

W. E. Blythes Celebrate Twenty-fifth Anniversary

THE WILLIAM E. BLYTHES, of Tooting Lane, will be hosts Sunday evening to about twenty of their friends at a buffet supper celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and at the same time the fiftieth anniversary of Mrs. Blythe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McFarland Marcellus, of Utica, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus will arrive Saturday, and will be accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. William Schmidt, also of Utica.

GIRL SCOUTS

One by one the Troops are having their first Autumn meetings and are registering for the new year. Mrs. Underhill and her Troop 7 at Adams School organized on Sept. 25. By now they are well into the swing of things. For last Tuesday, Sept. 23, marked their meeting at the cabin. All the Troops plan to use the Cabin more than ever this year.

The Barnum Troop No. 5, under Mrs. Schaub, held an organization meeting this Monday, Sept. 22. Watch these columns for the lists of the names of new Scouts and Officers as they become known.

Miss Margaret Lund and Miss Phyllis Porter are uniting their Troops 8 and 12. It is called Troop 12. They will meet at the Community House. Their will be a new Troop, meeting at night, and at the Community House, called Troop 8, and under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Haug and Miss Nancy Fletcher.

Mrs. White's Troop 2, at Adams School reports seven new girls. They are Nancy Bruning, Sue Hartsuch, Carol Harding, Elizabeth Lind, Betty Lane, Joan Loeffler, Judy Tucker and others may still join. All registrations must be in, between Sat. Nov. 1 her first.

There is a remarkable cooperation and understanding between the leaders and council members here in Birmingham. It is said that is because of such dinners as that held at the Cabin last evening when the Council entertained the Leaders, Commissioner White was unable to attend because of illness, and Mrs. Hyde, on whom so much depends, was on vacation; but Mrs. Main, deputy commissioner, Mrs. McCormick, social chairman, and Mrs. Richey, registration chairman, carried the affair like dependable Scouts.

It was announced that the Cookie Sale is to be October 20, and everyone is to take orders ahead. Cookies arrive during the first week in November.

All the Scouts in the night Troops should be interested in the Red Cross Automobile Drivers course offered at Birmingham Chevrolet at 7:30 on Monday evening for four weeks. So many women and girls drive without the slightest mechanical knowledge of the vulnerable and dangerous mechanism they are handling.

Caroline H. Holt To Be Feted at Tea

MR. AND MRS. F. FARRINGTON HOLT of Linden Avenue, will be hosts of a tea Sunday afternoon in honor of their daughter, Caroline Hope Holt, whose engagement to Harry M. Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Kelley, of Grosse Pointe, was announced three weeks ago.

Miss Holt's mother and sister, Mrs. George Blackard, of Chicago and Mrs. Fred Copeland, of Long Beach, Cal., will arrive Friday for the affair. Assisting Mrs. Holt at the tea table will be Mrs. Ward Burkett, of Detroit, Mrs. W. A. P. Winn, Mrs. Guy C. Smith and Mrs. William Latourlee Shaffner. Both Caroline and Harry are seniors at the University of Michigan this year.

Community Group Meets Tuesday to Discuss Institute

The Community Council will meet next Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 8 p.m. in the Community House to discuss plans outlined for the annual fall institute at an executive board meeting last week. The institute date has been set tentatively for Nov. 25, pending approval of the council.

Suggested plans include two round table discussions to be held at 3:30 p.m. on the day of the institute. Miss Lee Pope has consented to lead the panel discussion on women in defense, and ministers of Birmingham will lead another on religion at the same time. All ministers contacted up to late last night had consented to take part in the panel discussion. They are Father David Duncan, the Rev. Charles H. Forsyth, the Rev. Glen Harris, the Rev. C. C. Baker, the Rev. J. O. Nelson, the Rev. Dan R. Jorgenson, and the Rev. Theodore G. Wagganer, Jr. Plans are planning to meet on Wednesday at one o'clock to lay plans for their part of the program.

The afternoon round table discussions will last until 6 p. m. when dinner will be served at the Community House. A speaker's name to be announced later, has been obtained for the dinner meeting.

Three more round table discussions have been planned for the evening session which will begin at 7:30 p.m. The city commission has accepted the situation to lead a discussion on city planning, and the recreation commission to lead another on recreation. The board of education will be asked to participate in the panel discussion on education.

The institute will conclude with a general meeting and resume of the day's work at 9:30 p.m.

BETTY SEIGEL has returned to Rochester University, in Rochester, N. Y., and her brother Bob is enrolled for the year at the Todd School, Woodstock, Ill.

Pine Lake Luncheon And Fashion Showing Held on Wednesday

Pine Lake's annual fall luncheon, fashion show and games party was held yesterday afternoon at the Club with over 240 in attendance.

Among the Birmingham and Bloomfield folk seen enjoying the festivities were Mrs. W. C. Handay, Mrs. John C. Hansel, Mrs. Robert Ahlers, Mrs. Louise C. Allman, Mrs. Benjamin H. Anibal, Mrs. William McCallum, Mrs. Blaine Eynon and Mrs. Thomas A. Gould. Tables were each entertaining a guest, and Mrs. H. D. Harris and Mrs. William C. Howe, with their guests, made up another table. Mrs. Robert L. Sauer entertained eight, and Mrs. L. N. Pyle had four guests for the afternoon.

This was the last of the ladies' golfing luncheons scheduled for this year, however the club will be open until October 28, with a grand celebration—including dinner, dancing and games on Oct. 25.

Garden Club Plans First Fall Meeting For October 13

Birmingham Garden Club members will recall that, after several years of having no summer garden tour, this year in August the gardens of seven members were visited. This took the place of the usual September meeting.

The full swing of fall activities will soon begin with the first regular meeting scheduled for Oct. 13, at the Community House. At that time Mr. Ralph Peterson, Assistant City Forester of Parks and Recreation, will speak on "Color in the Autumn Garden through its Foliage and Berries."

More immediate yet is the luncheon that Mrs. Lawrence C. Howe, president of the Birmingham Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, will give at her home on Friday, Sept. 26th, for the members of the Board. The luncheon will be followed by a Board meeting at which full attendance is expected.

Childhood Education Group To Meet at Devon Gables

The Southern Oakland County Association for Childhood Education will hold its first meeting of the year at Devon Gables on Wednesday, Oct. 1, at 6:30 p.m. Miss Irene Sauble of Wayne University will speak on "New Ideas in Number Concepts."

Persons interested in attending this meeting may call Dena Hallock, at Barnum School, by Monday, Sept. 29.
