Candlelight Nuptial Service Unites Helen Stanger and Charles Follis

A candlelight service, read by pink carnations and sweet peas. Dr. W. Glen Harris before an altar banked with palms and tall baskets of white glads and stock, united Helen Valerie Stanger and Charles Irwin Follis in marriage last Saturday evening at the First Presbyterian Church. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curnell Stanger, and the bridegroom is the son of Irwin J. Follis and the late Mrs. Follis.

Traditional ivory satin formed the bridal gown which was fastened with a fitted bodice, distinguished by a lace yoke and long tight sleeves coming to a point over the wrists, and a full skirt ending in a train. Helen wore a finger tip veil, which was held in place by orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet consisting of gardenias and white lilies.

Beverly Stanger, who was maid of honor for her sister, wore for the occasion, a floor length pale blue chiffon dress and matching hat. She carried a bouquet of pale Productions Will Be Given Friday, Saturday at 9 p. m.

Friday and Saturday of this weekend, May 1 and 2, are the big dates set by St. Dunstan's Guild for their guest show "A Murder Has Been Arranged," which is being directed by Mrs. Carl G. Wonnberger. The play was written by Emylin Williams, author of "The Corn is Green," and promises to be something unusual in the murder-mystery line, since it is a psychological horror story, and what is more, has no love interest.

The play, which is to start both evenings at 9 o'clock at the Brookside auditorium, has a cast of nine. They are Mrs. A. L. Newcomb, Mrs. Brewster Shaw, Mrs. Zoltan Szepes, Miss Nellie Brewster, David R. Ballentine, James B. Shannon, Gordon S. Saunders, and Hughes Biggs.

Assisting Mrs. Wonnberger will be Mrs. David R. Ballentine, Mrs. Hubert V. Davis is in charge of make-up and Mrs. Davis is chairman of the lights committee. Walter Brown has designed and built the set, assisting him with the arrangements will be Mrs. Donald Sanderson.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

MRS. HORACE F. WOOD, of Indianapolis, who has been the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, MR. AND MRS. JOHN WOODS, of Radnor drive, is leaving for her home on Saturday.

John Byers, popular young Cranbrook actor, will say goodbye to the amateur stage on Friday night when he participates in a benefit performance of "Family Portrait," staged by Ergasterion Club to assist the Birmingham Community House drive.

Byers, who once lived in Birmingham, has been seen at Cranbrook in a variety of roles in plays ranging from Arthur Goodrich to Saroyan. He has played as an apprentice member of the Bridgehampton Players at Bridgehampton, Long Island, and has accepted a position as company juvenile in the Cape May Playhouse. In "Family Portrait" he will appear on the stage at Cranbrook as Judah, Christ's youngest brother, whose life is broken by the teachings of Nazareth by the teachings and preachings of Christ. The scene between Judah and Mary played by Roxanna Haynes, during the course of which the mother must tell her young son that his marriage has been blocked by his prospective father-in-law because of the teachings of Jesus, Judah's favorite brother, is the high point of the play.

Informal Rites Unite Jean Baker And Bill Sevin

Jean Baker became the bride of Bill Sevin last Saturday afternoon at a charming and informal ceremony in Ann Arbor. Dr. W. P. Lemon, pastor of the Methodist Church, read the services in the Michigan League Chapel.

For her wedding Jean chose an ensemble of pale blue crepe, navy accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and blue delphiniums.

For her wedding Jean chose an ensemble of pale blue crepe, navy accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and blue delphiniums.

For her son's wedding Mrs. Sevin chose a beige afternoon ensemble and wore a corsage of pink roses and blue delphiniums. Her small navy hat was trimmed with pink ruche. Dorothy Ragla, of Ann Arbor and Battle Creek, maid of honor, wore a pale pink afternoon dress and a corsage of pink roses and blue delphiniums.

Included among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Robert Sevin, who came out from Erie, Pa., to attend her nephew's wedding.

A reception followed immediately after the wedding after which the young people left on a short trip. They will be at home at 858 Seward avenue, Detroit.
