

Parties Precede
Dance Club Event
Saturday Evening

The festivities for the Dance Club will begin at 9:30 in the Community House Saturday night but many members will begin celebrating ahead of time at several cocktail parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald B. Friedline will entertain for about 12 couples at their home on Chagwater field.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Dixon, Kimberley road, will be hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John Rathbone, Dr. and Mrs. Helen S. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Strank, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Knoblock, Mr. and Mrs. E. Kendrick Linnaworth, Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan Smith, from Detroit, and Brainerd Sablin, who is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, and Miss Morayne Podesta.

The J. C. Stothers are also giving a cocktail party in their home on Madison avenue. The guest roster includes Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Nunnally, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Nunnally, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Linnaworth, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rathbone, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Bell, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Worley, Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Howard E. Cousins.

Chinax to the afternoon's enjoyment was the entrance of Santa Claus on the scene to distribute gifts to each of the guests, who came from St. Vincent's and Guardian Angel orphanages in Detroit. As an added surprise, each girl was presented with a complete manicure set in a leather case, the gift of M. A. Woodworth.

Indoor Picnic
Held by Family

Major and Mrs. L. E. McCaughey gave a novel party Saturday night in their home on Northlawn avenue. It was an indoor picnic complete with steaks broiled over the fireplace in the living room.

The picnickers were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McDonnell, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Sundberg, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Guest, Capt. and Mrs. Hennis English, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. McFar, Miss Helen Hansen, Mr. John D. Goodell, Mr. Gilbert Peterson, Lt. Alex W. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Moxley Smith.

Entertain Pupils At Dinner Party

Before Dorothy Seiffert's formal Christmas party for her dancing class on Saturday evening, a number of her pupils were entertained at a dinner party given by Gwen Flynn in her home on north Woodward avenue.

The guests were Mary McGinnis, Vincent Hayes, Sharon Murphy, Bill Hoofnagle, Mary Babbitt, Don Carlisle, Pauline Bob, Phil LaPine, Frances McGinnis, John LaPine, Julia Hargan, Donald Degen, Pauline Hassel, Donald Nelson, and John Kent Moore.

Orphan Girls Feted At Party Here

A rather unusual Christmas party took place last Sunday afternoon in the Birmingham Community House when the N. A. Woodworth Company Girls' club of Ferndale, entertained 50 orphan girls of high school age.

What has darning socks to do with

Bigger production ON A PUNCH PRESS?

Ask any woman what kind of sewing is most trying on the eyes. She will probably tell you fine stitching or mending, or even darning socks—because it means using black thread on a black background (or matching colors of thread and material). There is NO CONTRAST to help make seeing easy.

The same thing is true on a punch press, a lathe, or almost any kind of factory machine. Such machinery is usually painted dull green, deep gray or black; and against drab factory walls and floors and ceilings, it blends into a dark mass that makes seeing very difficult. Worse still, the color of the work piece is often the same as the machine—increasing the accident hazard and causing fingers to slow down or fumble.

It isn't practical to darn black socks with white thread. But something CAN be done about improving seeing conditions in factories, through the use of "two-toned" machines, and lighter walls and floors and ceilings. A paint brush and a few minutes' time can transform lathes, presses, drills... clearly marking the "danger area"—the point of work—and furnishing sharp contrast between the machine proper and the piece being handled. Combined with good lighting, this speeds up production on nearly every kind of job. Workers can SEE better, and are able to perform their tasks more efficiently. Errors are cut to a minimum. Flaws are quickly and readily spotted. And accident hazards are greatly reduced.
