Over the Hills

SIXTY-FOURTH YEAR-NO. 48

. and not Far Away

Overlooking the countryside, from the top of Franklin's highest hill, stands this new home, only three years old and superbly halft, Ready for som inspection is a charming fesidence, which offers a view over rolling hills, wooded slopes, a sparkling stream and the distant spiries and smoke plungs of betroit.

A panelled living room with its oak pegged random width floor and luge fireplace offers a superb view of rugged countryside in three directions. Panelled library, 4 lamily beforoms and 2 batts, with complete servants quarters on the livit floor alloud equally spectacular vistas. A first floor alloudy-has a built in diver and the recreation room, with fireplace 3 car garage; and large basement storage rooms for vegetables are all built into the side of the hill.

Constructed of materials now impossible to obtain and heated with an automatic General Electric forced hor water plant, this is a home which cannot now be built. Unusual circumstances affended a pine far below its cost. 7 acres comparie its area, doited with evergreens, and below a timbered slope, from age on a winding permanent stream. Here's everything von'se wanted in the country—with a hilliop and view which has no equal. See it today—call
