BARNUM POOL SPLASHES

Older boys of 16 to 18 who are working in the daytime are now permitted to swim evenings during the adult periods. They may, however, continue to use the regular 50c registration pass, instead of paying the higher adult fee.

The reason for the rule against wool bathing suits is that the outlet trap in our pool clogs up with lint when wool is used. Another rule to remember: girls and women are asked to wear caps.

Mrs. Jacqueline Scherer, pool director, tells us it took 8,000 extra gallons of water to bring the pool level back up to the normal water line after Tuesday's swimming periods; in other words, enthusiastic swimmers splashed that much water over into the gutter which had to be replaced.

How many readers of this column know that the Barnum Pool is open only during the eight weeks of the summer recreation program every year? We are always running into Birminghamites, some of them residents of 10 years or more standing, who are staggered to learn this fact. The truth of the matter is that the pool, which was completed away back at the fall of 1939, was operated as part of the regular school plant for that school year only. Came the depression and it has never been operated since by the Board of Education, the summer season being paid for through the contributions of organizations to the whole summer program. Quite a costly capital investment for the local school district to keep lying around unused! It always reminds us of the wax waterlilies on a mirror, pool that stood on the marble-topped table in our grandmother's best parlor. The flowers were under a glass dome, so they were never, never touched, and hardly ever looked at either, the second parlor being used for everyday occasions.

Bob Little and Dick Stewart, assistant supervisors at Barnum and Adams Play Centers, have been practicing some trick dives, including this, back-dive and swan-fold dives, encouraging the smaller fry in the mixed group to become equally versatile.

Barbara Holland made those smooth pool posters you've been noticing everywhere around town to remind you that you don't have to wear your tires down driving out of town for a refreshing swim.

PLAY CENTER HIGHLIGHTS

Jim Taylor, assistant supervisor at Pierce Play Center, has a good softball team set up and has sent out challenges to other play centers.

Speaking of softball teams, Jim Vaughn, Quarton Play Center assistant supervisor, wonders where all the junior high crowd is this summer?

Prospects are fine for the baseball team at Pierce as shown in the abilities of many of the boys, especially Bob Littleson, Bob Allison and Dick Marcot.

At Quarton, Jim Vaughn and Ann Sears, supervisors, have a pair of fine volunteer assistants in Bob Fowler and Jane Mallory for the taking of attendance and the organization of games.

Orval Shippey was master of ceremonies for an informal variety show last Friday at Torrey. Each spectator was required to do something and everyone participated, with a fine spirit.

Handicraft is popular at Holy Name, where Jim Webber, 101, recently finished a wood cut-out that many older boys would be proud of. Jimmie Judkins makes clever little clay animals. Teddy Berg, 6, cut out his leather purse by himself and did it better than most older children could.

It looks as though Granville Dance, croquet champion last summer at Adams, is going to have a hard time keeping his title this year.

Nancy Grenzenbach and Avis Murphy are having a great time with spool knitting and weaving at Barnum this week.

Obituary

MRS. LUELLA B. COLVIN

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Bell Funeral Home for Mrs. Luella B. Colvin, who died Thursday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Eastman, 316 Arlington drive. The Rev. Warner L. Forsyth officiated at the services, and burial was in Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. Colvin was born in Albany and came to Birmingham 15 years ago. She was a member of the Reformed Church of Albany.

CLEON C. HOOVER

Funeral services will be held this afternoon, July 2, at 3 o'clock in the Bell Funeral Home for Cleon C. Hoover, of Hubbard Lake. Burial will be in Franklin Cemetery. Mr. Hoover died Monday afternoon at his Hubbard Lake Camp after an illness of 2½ years.

Mr. Hoover was born 53 years ago in Montcalm county, attended the Elm Hall school in Gratiot county, and in 1910 was married to Adelaide Warner in Lansing. He came to Birmingham 26 years ago and for 22 of those years was employed in the United States Postal service.

Surviving besides his widow are two sons, Cleon C., Jr., of Camp Wolters, Tex., and Arthur, at home; six daughters, Mrs. Sidney Hoyt of Detroit, Mrs. William Lawson and Mrs. Roger Toothacker, of Birmingham, Mrs. George Nasch, of Vandyke, and Mariam and Hazel at home. Other survivors include eight grandchildren, a brother, J. E. Hoover, of Grand Rapids, and two sisters, Mrs. Ray Long, of Bristol, Ind., and Mrs. Tresen Schuster, of Topeka, Ind.

Marriage Licenses

Jacob Charles Irish, of Adams road, Birmingham, and Sadie Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, Adams road, Birmingham.

Albert James Henceka, 1424 Ruffner, Birmingham, and Wanda Kophan, Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Donald Murray Entertains Friends

Mrs. Donald Murray, of Tilbury road, was hostess to ten of her friends at a bridge-luncheon Tuesday afternoon at Orchard Lake Country Club. Guests were, Mrs. F. H. Mott, Mrs. Paul Carrick, Mrs. Robert Grindley, Mrs. C. LeRoy Austin, Mrs. Craig Richey and Mrs. Lewis Sappington, of Birmingham; Mrs. Stewart Blasier and Mrs. George Turnbull, of Grosse Pointe; and Miss Florence Cole, of Charlotte, Mich. Prizes were won by Mrs. Richey and Mrs. Grindley.

'Glamor Girl'—Wartime Style

First feminine welder in the San Francisco Bay defense area is Sally Chessmore, 25, who studied welding for 75 hours at a trade school and now earns $1 an hour. She's the 1942 model of a "glamor girl," all-out for defense.

Yanks Are Ready

Shells for Nazis coming through the rye, or whatever the grain is in this field, will meet any attack on Northern Ireland. The Yanks are only training with the trench mortars in this picture, but when the time comes, watch out, Hitler!

But It's True——————!

Mr. Baird's tooth grew the wrong way. When he has his teeth cleaned he has that one cleaned too. The horse performs ordinary farm duties, is said to be more efficient than its four-footed contemporaries.
