

Bloomfield Village Elects Officers in New Organization

A "progress report on organization" plus the election of nine trustees and officers highlighted an important public meeting of the Bloomfield-Village Protective Association, Inc., in the village school Monday night.

Approximately 100 of the 175 residents of the section attended. Nine trustees were elected. For three years—Elmer Sylvester, Lee E. Joslin, Jr., Dr. Robert Mason; two years—Paul Neal Averill, Wayne Benkert, William C. Howe; and one—Jasper B. Reid; John W. Spivey, Robert F. G. Copeland.

The trustees then named the following officers to serve through the first fiscal year ending March 31, 1943: President, Mr. Sylvester; vice-president, Mr. Averill; treasurer, Mr. Howe; and secretary, Mr. Joslin.

Two reports, one on the progress of civilian defense activities and the other on steps to be taken for the formation of a new fire district arrangement which will result in a considerable decrease in fire insurance rates, were unanimously approved by the residents.

Jasper Reid, in charge of the raid wardens for the section, told how a class of 14 wardens "covering all areas of the development" had completed the registration course and had been officially certified.

William Cartwright, chief of the auxiliary police, explained how volunteer police had been formed and trained and are ready for service when needed.

Mosquito Boat Greeted Naval Units

A photographer aboard a naval vessel returning to Hawaii caught this picture of a PT boat, backlit against a glittering southern sky, as it came off Pearl Harbor when the task force which had attacked Jap-held Marshall Islands returned.

Women will operate the equipment and certain members of the state and unincorporated regulations, will probably be the first public presentation of the new Cranbrook Summer School of the Theatre for Children, according to an announcement by Co-Directors Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Wonnberger.

The new Bloomfield Hills children's group, will have its first meeting on Monday, July 6, in the Greek Theatre on the Cranbrook Estate just off Lone Pine Road. A public performance will come sometime later—perhaps the last week in July.

Recently added to the theatre staff are Miss Patti Webb, director of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Webb, of Pontiac, and a senior at Kingswood School, Miss Webb will assist in the junior division.

Enrollment for the theatre school has increased during the past week and promises to reach capacity by the time of opening on Monday. Students have been enrolled from Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Highland Park, Franklin and Detroit.

It will be the aim of the children's theatre to encourage personal growth through dramatics rather than merely in dramatics, explains Mr. Wonnberger. "An institution at Cranbrook we are first of all concerned with the development of the student as an individual, and our emphasis will be upon that point rather than upon mere exhibitionism. I cannot conceive, however, of anything in this point-of-view which will militate against good theatre or finished performance. The actor, particularly the child actor, who is nothing more than a glorified parrot is pleasing to no one, but acting itself is a normal avenue of expression for a normal child, and when it is sincere it is intelligent, when it is intelligent it is good. We do not plan to use any short cuts; even the tiniest effort can be elevating if it is carefully conceived and well worked out. It is for that reason we are to be concerned with growth through dramatics rather than in mere shallow exhibitionism which so often characterizes badly-conceived projects of this nature."

Defense Displays Available at Center

Two defense exhibits, one now on display at the Kingswood Institute and one at the Birmingham Defense Service Center, will be available for loan to public groups in Oakland County after Monday, July 6, by the Defense Center.

Will Continue

The Birmingham USO Fund, comprised of contributions from Bloomfield Hills City and Township, Birmingham, Beverly Hills and Franklin, has already received 1,873 contributions, with additional gifts being reported from day to day by W. Ray Woodford, treasurer of the fund.

Charles J. Shan, general chairman of the fund, has secured additional friends of USO who make their contributions in the form of cash or gifts. Mr. Shan reports that contributions from workers have been received at headquarters in the YMCA building by the Birmingham Community House.

Obviously nervous and a little distressed, a recruit in the Fort Casser Center here approached his sergeant. "Tell me something, if you please sir," he implored. "What does this 'AUS' mean that we've put after my name?" "That's Army of the United States," the noncom replied. "Way," that stands for Army of the United States, the noncom replied.

Red Cross Life Saving Given at Barnum Pool

A Red Cross Life Saving Class is being conducted on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 o'clock at the Barnum Pool under the direction of Nancy Fletcher, who recently was awarded the status of an examiner and instructor in Life Saving work. This is the standard course of 15 hours and is open to seniors and to juniors. There is no charge for the class other than the regular pool fee.

Movie Programs Offered At Kingswood Institute

Under the direction of Mrs. Lee Pope Hill, A.W.S. is sponsoring a series of defense movies out at the Kingswood Institute each Monday morning at 11 a. m. First of the programs was held in the auditorium on Monday. The sound movie, furnished by the Michigan Bell Telephone company, illustrated the part that organization plays in an emergency.

There will be another program next week at the same time and one every week thereafter, if the sound warrants it. These programs are to be open to the public, one does not have to be a member of the Institute in order to come. Next Monday's program is to be sponsored by the Chrysler Corporation. The movies will be "Lines of Defense," the story of actual war production, and "Land and Air," which will show the trucks in action during war activity. Various other commercial companies have agreed to contribute to the continuation of this program—so plan to set aside an hour on Monday morning to take in the show.

Walled Lake Park Plans Fireworks

Walled Lake Amusement Park announces a program of events over the coming holiday week-end. The gala celebration will start Friday, July 3, and continue through Saturday, July 4, and Sunday, July 5. Topping the list of entertaining features will be a mammoth fireworks display on the night of July 4.

Calls Attention To Street Holes

City Commissioner Harry E. Bisset complained Tuesday night of bad holes on East Lincoln, between Adams and Hunter. The City Manager demurred at improving the street.

"There is a special assessment project under way to pave this street," he said, "but as yet there is not enough money on hand to do the work. It would upset our policy if we stepped in and improved this street, which has never been improved or accepted for City maintenance. Gravel street is just as bad."

Volunteer Workers Feted

Blood Bank Busy in July. The Harry D. Horys entertained 20 members of the Red Cross Mobile Blood Bank yesterday for lunch at their cabin, "Blayden" at Metamora. The workers were holding a program, or a "bleeding" as they call it in Oxford yesterday. The summer session is best for members of this volunteer service for, according to the chairman, July will be an exceptionally heavy month, all ready ten bleedings have been scheduled.

Mrs. Frank Hubble Gives Tea For British War Relief. Another tea of charming appointments was given for benefit of the British War Relief society last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Hubble on Oxford.

Presiding at the tea table throughout the afternoon were Mrs. Arthur Bull, Mrs. Merton Adams, Mrs. Earl Shiley, and Mrs. George W. Heath. A patriotic arrangement of flowers—red carnations, white asters and baby's breath, and blue hatcher bulbs—was used for the tea table centerpiece. Other British War Relief teas held recently have been at the homes of Mrs. Edith Adams and Mrs. B. J. Barter.

Michigan's Beauty Spots are at your door

When you want to telephone home while taking a Michigan holiday, please use the busy hours. The best time to make your long distance calls are: BEFORE 10 A. M. FOUR TO 7 P. M. NOON TO 2 P. M. AFTER 9 P. M. You can help keep lines clear for vital war calls by keeping personal calls brief and by making them at other times than during "rush" hours.

WINNING the war is a job for vigorous Americans, overtime to put all they've got into production and to work overjoyedly. But on days off they need to renew their energies out in the open. In Michigan, you don't have far to go. Here you'll find almost any kind of recreation you want—fishing, swimming, canoeing, camping—all close at hand. Five thousand miles of streams and rivers and millions of acres of woodland are your playground. Michigan workers are fortunate in having all these opportunities within easy reach by bus, boat or train.

How to get the most light

from your LAMPS AND FIXTURES

"Take good care of the things you have" is one of the cardinal rules of the U. S. Government's Consumer's Pledge—and it applies just as much to your lamps and fixtures as to your electric appliances. Perhaps it is even more important, because lamps lose their efficiency little by little, day by day, as dust and dirt collect on bulbs and shades and reflector bowls. The amount of light you are getting may be cut in half before you realize it. . . . and these days you need plenty of good light for easy comfortable seeing, during those extra hours you spend knitting or sewing or doing war work. Good light helps make you, your time more productive.

Here are a few simple rules to aid in keeping your lamps and fixtures at top efficiency. Wipe all lamp bulbs frequently with a damp cloth, also the reflector bowls and shades. Dust shades or shades with white linings. This may give you as much as 50 per cent more light. Use the RIGHT SIZE BULBS in your lamps and fixtures—not too large, not too small. Too large a lamp may cause glare, too small a lamp gives inadequate light. Move your lamps closer to the point of use, so that they shed their light more directly on your work. Check the location of all your lamps with this in mind. Use adapter shades and linings to modernize your present equipment. This can be done easily and at low cost, and you obtain good light while conserving materials. The Detroit Edison Company.
