

Junior Band Gives First Performances at the Playgrounds

BY MARGARET ESSERY

The Summer Recreation Junior Band was stationed in a shade spot of grass in the shadow of Juniper School last Friday morning for the first public performance of its career. Its audience of about 75 ranged mostly from two to eleven, with a sprinkling of grown-ups.

Arnold Berndt raised his baton and the concert was on, a single march and waltzes for the most part, very pleasing under the blue sky. Children stood as close to the players as they could get, wide-eyed and enraptured. Some sat time with hands or feet, or rumps clasped hands and swung arms in unison. Others sang softly.

No applause at all followed the first number—just a sigh of pleasure. This was a truly unostentatious audience.

The next number, a waltz, topped up the tempo of enjoyment still further. You noticed not the very little girl in the red dress swinging high to the beat of the music. Then you saw that small occupant of the three her swings were keeping time.

Another movement to the right caught your eye, and you saw that the merry-go-round, every seat filled, was being swung in sidewise rhythm by an older boy who never missed a beat. The whole child audience was keeping time, but quietly, as if not to disturb the musicians. It was like watching a Disney picture with full sound effects. The concert was a distinct success!

In half an hour it was all over and the truck was backed up to the orchestra stage to collect instruments, music-racks, chairs. Band members mounted their bikes and were off for the next stand at Holy Name Play Center. Later, a third concert at Adams rounded out the morning.

This Friday morning, the three remaining play centers will enjoy band concerts on the following schedule: Porter, 9:30 a. m.; Torrey, 10:15 a. m.; and Barnum, 11 a. m. Each concert will close with the playing of "America," in which the audience is asked to join.

Cranbrook Theatre to Offer Final Show

Announced as its final public appearance of the season "The Reckless Dragon" and "The Camel With the Wrinkled Knees" will form the twin offering to be presented by the Cranbrook Summer Theatre School on the afternoon of July 31 at 3:30 p. m.

In the Greek Theatre on Cranbrook estate there will assemble an audience of children and their elders to witness the classic struggle of St. John, the fire-eating and spitting dragon, and the Emma Gilders Sterne's monster who wouldn't fight, and to follow will be the tragic tale of the capture of Babbette, the French doll, and the subsequent adventures of the Camel with the Wrinkled Knees, the Tired Old Horse, and Raggedy Ann—who was so sweet because she had a candy heart.

MORY MAHON, 531 Westchester, and SALLY ANN FARQUHAR, 1016 Lake Park drive, talk over their lines in "A Good Game," to be presented by the Cranbrook Summer Theatre School.

Soy Beans Serve

As science discovers new ways to use soy beans, farmers are adding to the millions of acres already devoted to this important crop. New uses for soy beans in Uncle Sam's war effort are the subject of attention in many research laboratories.

Army War Show In U of D Stadium

War comes to Michigan next Saturday night!

On July 23, the United States Army will draw up its battle lines over the University of Detroit campus for an all-out production presentation as if to defy the machine gun staccato, in its own War Show, 1942 style.

Nothing in modern war is left to the imagination.

Tank, dark monsters of battle, and tank destroyers will lead in an echoing rumble that will shake the terrain in almost deafening reverberation as if to defy the machine gun staccato, to which will be added the action of field artillery and the rapid fire weapons of Uncle Sam's infantry and the fast action of the jeeps.

Nearly a million people have witnessed the Army War Show in four weeks, and thousands have been turned away after all the seats were gone in previous performances of the Army War Show at Baltimore, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Akron.

Presented by a completely equipped Army Task Force of over 2000 American expert combat troops and 72 officers, under the command of Col. W. T. Bals, the Army War Show reveals the Army of the United States in action for nine nights, starting at 8:30 p. m. in the University of Detroit Stadium, Livernois at McNichols Road.

Stephen Hurd Resigns To Run for Sheriff

Stephen E. Hurd, of 1669 Oxford road, Berkeley, this week announced his candidacy for sheriff of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

He has been a deputy sheriff for the past seven years and this week, on thing for a year, turned in his resignation.

Hurd is a former commissioner and president of Berkeley and was formerly deputy disbursing officer for the old CWA. Later he became an inspector and investigator for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, leaving to go to the sheriff's office of Oakland County, where he set up a liquor enforcement division.

Recipes for Your Books, Cooks!

A well stocked pantry is still the best source of menu ideas during these hot summer days. Home-makers will welcome these recipes which require a minimum of time and labor. They all come off the pantry shelf.

Stuffed Frankfurters

One No. 1 tall can frankfurters.
2 cups freshly mashed potatoes.
1 tablespoon butter.
3 to 4 tablespoons hot milk.
1 egg, well beaten.
Salt and pepper.

1-2 cup grated American cheese.

Heat or three kinds canned vegetables.

Butter for vegetables.

Heat but do not boil the frankfurters in the liquid from the can. Add butter and milk to mashed potatoes. Whip until very fluffy. Add egg and season with salt and pepper. Split the frankfurters lengthwise without cutting all the way through. Heap the potato mixture on the frankfurters. Sprinkle cheese over top. Place in a baking pan of heating slant that has been brushed lightly with salad oil. Arrange the frankfurters in the center and bake in an oven 450 degrees until the potato is nicely browned. Remove plunk and arrange vegetables that have been heated in this new liquor and seasoned with salt and pepper and butter. Whole kernel corn, butter beans and whole beets are a nice combination.

Four-in-One Casserole

1 lb. can roasted beef hash.
2 cups creamed meat sauce or gravy.
One No. 2 can mixed vegetables.
2 cups prepared biscuit mix.
2-3 cup water.

1-2 cup grated American cheese.
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Break up the roast beef hash with a fork. Mix with the meat sauce or gravy, and the canned, drained vegetables. Heat to boiling. Pour into a casserole. Add water to biscuit mix. Stir together with a fork. Roll out in a rectangular shaped piece about 1 1/4 inch thick on a floured board. Sprinkle with grated cheese and chopped parsley. Roll up, starting on the long side. Cut into 1-2 inch slices. Arrange these pin wheel biscuits in the casserole on top of the meat and vegetables. Bake in an oven 450 degrees for 15 minutes or until biscuits are nicely browned and the sauce is hot.

Vegetable Salad

1 1/4 cup water.
1-2 cups hot canned orange juice.
1-4 cup lemon juice.
1-2 teaspoon grated onion.
Salt.
Sugar to taste, if desired.

1 cup well drained canned vegetables.

Sprinkle gelatin over water to soften. Stir in the orange juice and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice, sugar, onion and salt. Chill until it begins to thicken. Then stir in the vegetables. Pour into small solid molds and chill. Serve on any greens with mayonnaise.

The Name

NORCROSS

on Greeting Cards

OVER the years, the name Norcross, timely imprinted on Greeting Cards, is one assurance of the utmost in design, of beauty and richness in coloring, and of appropriateness and exceptional good taste in sentiment!

For it was more than a quarter of a century ago that this name began to command attention, and since has come to mean what Stradivarius means to a violinist . . . or what Spitalfield means to a connoisseur of neckwear!

We invite you to come and see our new arrangement of Norcross Greeting Cards for all occasions, an arrangement which makes it unusually convenient and satisfactory as you make selections of Greeting Cards for some particular occasion; or as you make a general selection to keep in your writing desk—thus to have these appropriate greetings at hand whenever the occasion arises!
