THIS AND THAT

(Continued from Page One) war successes of Germany and Japan. We in the democracies are asked to drift toward totalitarianism, necessarily so, in a voluntary fashion; the only thing on God's green earth that will make this voluntary method wiser than it has is the power of example from our leaders themselves!

You know it, already, I dare say. Whether they be of Republican or Democratic party lines, whoever among our leaders fail to inspire, through the power of their own example, more than mere gabbling of words, such leaders are failing the cause of ultimate victory.

Another Crosby Tries Radio

Larry Crosby, brother of Bing, uses radio for a more vital purpose than singing. He has developed the "Blind Bug," a radio controlled land bomb. The land-going torpedo was developed in Larry's Pasadena, Calif., laboratory.
