

Adults of these days, if they would stop and think, must be impressed by the fact that the old-fashioned values are being thrown overboard...

SIXTY-FIFTH YEAR—NO. 15

THIS and THAT By G. R. A.

Here's What Your Congressman Would Like To Tell You?

Viewing the activities of the Congress of the United States of America the other evening, I was struck by the fact that the chief difference between the acts of Congress during war and in times of peace, was that during the same general hysteria grips them that grips most of our population...

Now, of course, this suggests "politics." Especially since this is an election year, our Congressmen have the urge to risk their chances for re-election by offering constructive criticism of the Administration...

Not Own Fault Entirely Thinking along these lines (and some of the congressmen are creating others, plain disgraced and mistrusted of a few), I said to myself: "Now, this is not the fault of the Congressman himself; true, if he had real high-class courage, nothing would keep him from uttering his honest beliefs...

My Dear American Citizen and Voter:

Hurrah for America! Hurrah for our ultimate victory against the Axis!

Believe me, folks, we in Congress are doing our best for you, folks, doing what we believe you want—at least what we believe you will stand for, anyway...
