Navy Appeals For Binoculars

The United States Navy has appealed directly to the people of Birmingham for the loan of binoculars meeting Navy requirements for the duration of the war.

In four and a half months only 1,654 sets of these instruments have been received from all over the country. This number is but a fraction of what the Navy needs.

Binoculars are a necessity on the fighting ships of our Navy. Lookouts use them to keep a constant vigil for enemy ships, planes and submarines. The lives of sailors, marines, and transports of soldiers depend on them.

Two types of instruments are accepted by the Navy. They are Bausch & Lomb or Carl Zeiss, sizes 6x30 or 7x50. If you have a pair of these, tag them with your name and address, wrap them carefully and send them to the Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C. They will be returned after the war, if possible.

Look in your attic, safety deposit box, closets . . . find that pair that has been gathering dust and put them to the best use for you, your sons, and your Navy.

There are only a total of 208,000 public transportation vehicles in the U. S. buses and street, elevated, subway and railway cars. There are 145,000 buses, street, elevated and subway cars number 35,000, and railway coaches, sleepers and lounge cars account for the remaining 78,000.

Price of Paper Decreases 65%

Elbridge G. Newhall, treasurer of the Birmingham Recreation Commission, reports this week that paper salvage prices prevailing as of July 6 are as follows: scrap, $8 per ton; newspapers, $4 per ton; corrugated cardboard, $5 per ton; magazines, $6 per ton. This scale represents a constant drop of almost 65% since February. As most readers probably know, the proceeds from the sale of all paper salvage brought in to the depot at Hunter and East Maple are used by the Recreation Commission to help finance the summer recreation program.

"Perhaps, if you print this," said Mr. Newhall, "it will disabuse people's minds of the idea that we can finance the summer program largely from this source with decreased aid from organizations. When the necessary labor overhead has been deducted from our paper proceeds, the net profit is very slight indeed. Incidentally, the labor costs could be greatly reduced if all good Birmingham citizens who bring us their paper salvage at the depot would remember to keep scrap, newspapers, cardboard and magazines separate from each other, and tie each of these kinds of salvage securely in bundles."

Big Game, 1943 Model

One production line not affected by the war is the one that is turning out wildlife in Michigan's north woods, where a bumper crop got a good start in favorable weather this season. This husky bear cub, photographed in the woods near Roscommon, is one of the smartest of the woods youngsters. Like unattended fawns, bear cubs ought never to be picked up when found in the woods. They are at home there, and state law protects them from kidnapping.

He Got Home O. K.!

Bobby Scalby, five-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. R. I. Scalby, of Glendale boulevard, has been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Parker, of Ovid, Mich., the past two weeks. He returned home on the train alone, Saturday. As traffic was particularly heavy over the Fourth, the conductor somehow or other lost track of young Bobby's destination, but not so the young man. When he heard Royal Oak, called out, he asked a man nearby to help him reach for his suitcase, in the upper rack, and just as the train was about to pull out of Royal Oak, the little fellow appeared in the door, tugging at his valise, almost as large as himself, to the relief of his father who had climbed aboard frantically in search of his missing son.

Members and friends are invited to a bridge picnic at the Cabin-in-the-Woods, of the Sarah Fisher Home. This occasion will mark the anniversary of those underprivileged children whose birthdays fall in July, and will be celebrated by the little folks as well as the adults.

MEN IN SERVICE

ment plans to use the information so secured has not been announced.

GETS COMMISSION

Samuel N. Bruni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bruni, of Birmingham, has secured a second lieutenant's commission in the dental section of the Medical Corps. For the present, he continues as a student at the University of Michigan.

RECEIVE DEPENDENCY CHANGES

The Selective Service office here has received new regulations relative to the drafting of family men.

First to be called will be the single men. Also, a number of 1-B men are to be called for non-combat duty. Then, men with dependents other than wife or children. Next will be married men with no children, and speaking of this classification, Major Paul V. Engstrom, assistant state director of selective service, said last Saturday:

"It is not expected that there can be any permanent deferment of men with wives only. The needs of the armed forces are becoming increasingly insistent, and it may well be that within a year, no man, without minor children depending on him for support can expect to remain out of the armed forces much longer."

In the next category are men with one child, and so forth.

Engstrom stated further that men who married after Sept. 16, 1940 are likely to be called earlier than those who were married before that date, and that those who married after Pearl Harbor will receive no consideration on that score.

The status of men with working wives is not yet clear.

PEW COMPLETES TRAINING

First Lieut. Frederic C. Pew, former Birmingham real estate broker, has completed six weeks of military instruction and physical conditioning at the Air Force's officer training school in Miami, Fla., and is now prepared to take over executive duties in Air Force maintenance. He was one of the leaders in his class.

WILL BE GLIDER PILOT

Corp. Allen Terwilliager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Terwilliager, Wallace street, has been transferred from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., to the Air Forces school at Monticello, Minn., where he will become a glider pilot student, Class A.

FAST PROMOTION

In last week's paper, there was a story to the effect that Pvt. Harold G. Roy, of 1128 West Maple, had been promoted to private first class at Selfridge Field. His brother called us and said that the next day, Harold was promoted to corporal.

The Army may have its "caste" system which divides the officers and men, but this column is democratic. We mix 'em all together.

GETS TECHNICIAN RATING

Corp. Bradford Smith, of the 69th Armored Field artillery, Camp Chaffee, Ark., who is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Smith, of 881 North Adams road, for a few days was recently given a rating of technician fifth class.

ON FURLOUGH

Lieut. Claude R. Streb, who has been at Fort Benning, Ga., for the past three months, is on furlough but returns soon to Fort Lewis, Wash. Streb is a graduate of Baldwin High and Michigan State College, and in his senior year was student colonel of the R.O.T.C. He is married and has one son, age 1½ years. His home is at Grosse Pointe Woods.

AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Charles J. McDonald of Big Beaver, is attending officer candidate school, the Adjutant General's School, at Fort Washington, Md. McDonald was stationed on the coast at Camp Roberts, Calif., for 15 months. Mrs. McDonald is staying at her parents' home in Royal Oak. She will leave for Washington shortly to be near her husband.

Fire Prevention Handbook Available

LANSING—A fire prevention handbook for use of cottagers, farmers and others living in rural areas is now available for distribution by the department of conservation. The booklet, written in non-technical language, is available on application to the department's Lansing office.

The two or three dozen industrial plants working for one procurement division of the army will tie up more than 100,000 freight cars a day when working a full production. These cars, needed to haul raw materials to the plants and carry munitions and waste products away, represent about four times as many cars as are usually on the tracks of so large a freight center as New York.
