HELP IN RUBBER DRIVE

All troops have been asked to assist in a house-to-house rubber canvas Friday and Saturday of this week to bring to a conclusion the big drive for scrap rubber. No money is involved; people who want to sell their rubber must take it to the nearest gasoline station themselves. Scouts will give the rubber they collect to the nearest gas station. Contact your Scoutmaster!

MESSENGER SERVICE

A messenger service for civilian defense is being organized under the direction of Larned G. Goodrich and Fred J. Zoellin. This work has been given to Boy Scouts throughout the United States because of their special experience and training.

Requirements are citizenship in the United States, residence in this area, a Scout for one year (non-scouts must be 15 years old). Scouts under 15 years of age may only serve as inside messengers or carry outside messages before or after, but not during an alarm. They must possess the first aid merit badge or Junior American Red Cross first aid certificate, agree to take the required training, secure parental approval, and secure recommendation from the Scout leader.

About 34 boys have already volunteered here. They will be assigned to various zone and post air raid wardens, decontamination posts and auxiliary fire posts so that in case communications are cut, the boys can carry the messages.

More messengers are needed, so any boy eligible and interested may make application now.

U. OF M. CLASSES

Classes in the first summer program to be sponsored by the University of Michigan Extension Service will open in Detroit this week and next, according to an announcement received today from E. J. Soop of the Detroit office. All classes will meet twice a week for eight weeks in the Horace H. Rackham Educational Memorial, 60 Farnsworth Avenue, Detroit. Most courses carry graduate credit. Enrollment may be made now or at the first class session.

Diorama Expert Talks to Rotarians

Information concerning the gathering by natural scientists of exhibits that are displayed in museums was given Birmingham Rotarians Monday noon when Dudley Blakely, in charge of the arts of exhibition at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, talked to them. Mr. Blakely, formerly connected with the American Museum of Natural History, of New York City, also told some of his experiences when he was a member of that museum's trip to dark Africa to gather rare specimens of a species of antelope; it lasted four months, in 1931.

Mr. Blakely explained many details of the care that scientists must take in gathering exact details of the habitat of the various animals, birds, etc., that are displayed in diorama form in museums. He, himself, does many color paintings on location, which become guides for actual diorama work later.

He said that the Cranbrook Institute of Science contains many fine exhibits, and is open to the public each weekday afternoon, between two and five o'clock.

Bits of Birmingham

about $2.50 per week at its present location in the business district (not residential as charged; for proof, see any zoning map of Birmingham).

"And now, A. L. S., you tell how the tiddlywinks yowl and war cry of two cats near your open bedroom windows has awakened the entire household at hours such as 12 midnight, 2:30 a. m. and 5:30 a. m. This is a problem to be ironed out between yourself and the owner of the cats. However, I'll bet you count on your thumbs the actual number of times this has happened to you and your family. If the natural noises made by animals annoy you, I suggest that you wear ear plugs.

"Now if the Cat Bureau wants to continue its good deed . . . the poor homeless things should be kept at least in their cages at night . . . "

Now, A. L. S., you are barking up the wrong tree, because the cats at the Bureau are locked up at night in the cage and they sleep in their own little houses and even if they did run at night (which they do not) you wouldn't hear them. The big cats at the Bureau are all females (people keep their males but are always bringing the Bureau females) which do not spend their evenings on back fences.

Cats Available

"Thus, A. L. S., you seem to twist the facts until you have no facts at all, although we thank you for saying the work should be encouraged. In the event you are in the market for a cat or kitten I feel sure you will come and see us.

"The 'rabbit cat' kittens are ready to go now and we have a fine selection of big cats, too. Or two little yellow and white kittens can be secured from a resident of the Bloomfield Court Apts. Call 2955. "Sincerely,

"The Cat Bureau"

Beverly Hills Girls Hurt in Crash

Florence Walsh and Mildred Flanigan, both of 31900 Auburn drive, Beverly Hills, were badly bruised last Saturday evening on Greenfield road, when the car in which they were driving was hit by one driven by Enos Clark, 21, of Berkley.

Clark failed to heed a stop sign warning on a gravel road crossing the main thoroughfare and right-of-way highway, Greenfield, just south of 13-Mile road.

Miss Walsh, who was driving the other automobile, received several bad bruises, while Miss Flanigan was thrown against the windshield and suffered a deep gash just above her eye. Damage to Miss Walsh's car was estimated at about $125.

Garden Club Plants Seedlings at Library

Splashes of color ought to brighten the Library grounds in a few weeks. Members of the Birmingham Garden Club have been busy planting seedlings there.

The project is the responsibility of Mrs. Gordon Russel Craven, 2358 Fairway drive, chairman of the Roadside improvement committee. She obtained young plants, some donated by Garden Club members, others purchased and already most of them are trying out their roots in spots around the Library.

She received some welcome assistance from Mrs. William C. Howe, 360 Tilbury road, president of the club.

Visit

Corp. and Mrs. Charles J. McDonald arrived last Sunday from Camp Roberts, Calif., where Corp. McDonald has been stationed for the past 15 months. They made the trip by automobile, traveling the southern route. Corporal McDonald left on Thursday.
