Lions Club Hears Of Narcotics Work

Vincent Fordell, assistant United States District Attorney, narcotics division, Detroit, was guest speaker at the Lions Club on Wednesday. Fordell pointed out that because of the war, morphine and heroin are becoming harder to obtain. As a result it may be that many addicts will have a self-cure forced upon them.

He described the effects of various drugs and suggested that high school youngsters, and older people, too, make a special trip through the section of Eloise Hospital devoted to persons made incurably insane by use of marihuana.

Dominic Caputo, program chairman for the day, had as his special guest, Frank Patten, special assistant United States Attorney General, and a member of the Santa Fe Lions Club.
