This authentic map shows it can happen here . . . just as easily, just as soon as on the Pacific Coast!

Do you realize that California and Michigan are almost exactly the same distance from Tokyo? As a bomber flies . . . shortcutting over the top of the world . . . it's only about 5,000 miles from either point. And if the Japs should ever get a foothold on the Aleutian Islands or Alaska, their bombers would be within five hours of vital military objectives in Michigan . . . within minutes of your home and family. Fantastic? Here's what one of our statesmen said in Washington the other day: "Routine attacks on the north central section of the United States by air should be expected. These attacks will not be mere suicide attempts but sound military operations." Yes, some peaceful Sunday morning a Rising Son of a Gun may look down through his bombsight . . . and see your home! Remember Pearl Harbor! Buy Bonds . . . and keep on buying them for the duration!
