

Pacific Culture Shown in Exhibit At Art Academy

A new exhibition, "Civilizations of the Pacific War Zone," was opened to the public Sunday afternoon, May 3, at the Cranbrook Institute of Science. This exhibition of the material culture of the peoples occupying the center of the stage in the Pacific theatre of world war was arranged by ten junior members of the Institute. Since mid-February these students, who are between 12 and 16 years of age, have met voluntarily on Saturdays to study the habits and customs of the natives of India, China, Korea, Japan, Borneo, the Philippines, Australia and the "Oceanic" islands. From the articles used by these peoples the boys and girls have assembled exhibits showing how natives lived before the period of westernization. These objects indicate many of the characteristics of the people who used them.

Indian silks, Chinese Jade, New Guinea leather ornaments, Philippine hats and baskets, tapa cloth from Polynesia, a bamboo shield from Borneo, oriental shrimps and Japanese umbrellas are all displayed to indicate the cultures of the peoples who used them.

Many of the objects shown are part of the Cranbrook collections. Others are used through the courtesy of the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Detroit Public Library, the Detroit Zoological Park, Mrs. Nell C. McMath, Mrs. J. W. Fink, Dr. and Mrs. John E. Martin, Henry Forester and Young Miller.

At the opening, the young people who arranged the exhibit, explained its significance to visitors. The exhibition will be open daily from 2 to 5 p. m. throughout the summer.

Five Will Take First Aid Course

As part of a general program to build Red Cross services in Oakland County to a war-time peak, an intensive course in first aid and teaching techniques will be given carefully selected, qualified persons May 7, 12, 14 and 15, by Theodore G. Albee, of St. Louis, first aid field representative of the National Red Cross. It was announced today by Dr. E. B. Cadney, chairman of the Oakland County Chapter of the organization.

Those successfully completing the 15-hour course will be recognized by the Red Cross as lay instructors and will be authorized to organize and conduct classes in standard and advanced first aid.

Individuals from Birmingham selected to attend the course are: Gladys Brown, 18701 San Quentin Drive; Prentiss Smith, 1039 Floyd; Caroline Gerlach, 883 Westford; Eugene Beers, 1571 Bennaville; Dwight Joslyn, 18769 Saratoga boulevard.

Kingswood Klippings

Climax of the past week was the piano and voice concert given by two talented seniors, Patty Knowles and Beverly Allen. Patty played many favorites, including "Serenade" and a Chopin waltz in G flat. Beverly began with Grieg's well known "I Love Thee" which, like everything she sings, was enjoyed by all.

Leighton Rollins, of the Rollins Studio, East Hampton, Long Island, came out to talk to us last week about the summer theatre. Mr. Rollins is director of the only travelling summer theatre and takes people to work with him only after a personal interview.

On Monday, Fencing Coach Mrs. deTuscan brought her musketeers, Bela, from the studios in town and gave us an exhibition in assembly. Our own fencers on the stage led a very interesting and coordinated in their work with the masters.

TENNIS CLINIC
The English players, Charles Hare and Mary Hardwick, will hold a tennis clinic here at 3 p. m. Friday, May 8. Representatives have been invited from Baldwin High, Bloomfield Hills School and Cranbrook School to form the instruction group. Other students interested in tennis are invited to come and watch.

Recently a goodly crop of Birmingham delegates to Kingswood School, Cranbrook have been leaving behind worries of rows and car tires and have been hopping aboard the bikes of the good old days. About fourteen girls from the neighborhood are pedaling now.

A JUNIOR
MADE SALES MANAGER
Mrs. J. E. Sewell, of 251 North Woodland avenue, this week was appointed district sales manager for the Spencer Contract company in the Metropolitan Detroit area and suburbs. Mrs. Sewell, who was formerly a sales representative for Birmingham, has just returned from New Haven, Conn., where she attended a two week's course of study.
