Not Particular
The slightly inebriated young man entered a ten-story building. He walked into an elevator with five other passengers.

The attendant closed the door. "Floors, please," he asked. "Three," said one passenger. "Nine," said another. "Six," said a third. "Four," came a request. "Ten," said another. The attendant turned to the reveler.

"What floor do you want, sir?" The inebriated one shrugged his shoulders. "That all depends," he murmured. "What's left?"

Joan Seligmann Weds New Yorker Saturday P. M.

The marriage of Joan Hollow Seligmann and George Willis Hagner, Jr., solemnized Saturday afternoon, Oct. 24, in the Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity, New York City. Miss Seligmann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William John Seligmann, formerly of Birmingham, and Mr. Hogner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Willis Hagner, of Germantown, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Paul E. Schreyer, uncle of the bride, and Dr. Henry Schubert was the organist.

The bride wore a wine colored dress of velveteen with a matching hat and accessories. Margaret Smith, the bride's former roommate at Oberlin College, was her only attendant, and Estlin Edward L. Maynard was best man.

A buffet supper following the ceremony was held in the reception room of the church. The table was centered with dark red and white chrysanthemums. Place cards throughout the room were burning white tapers and large white chrysanthemums.
