

Village Variety

For the past year, the male population has patiently watched a steady flow of parties given for young brides, and now the men are having their turn. The tables have turned, as it were, for right now affairs given for men who are joining the armed forces far outnumber pre-nuptial parties.

On Saturday evening Capt. and Mrs. E. E. Hammonds were surprised at a large dinner party planned for them. A subscription party was attended by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. O'Gorman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Cassius L. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Souleis, the John W. Shenefields, the Carl Underhills, the E. A. Schirmers, the Charles Renss, and Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Burleigh.

Many other small parties were held for the Hammonds last week for Capt. Hammonds is leaving this week for Miami, Fla., where he will enter the Army Air Force. The go signal for another round of parties was given when Louis S. Morse received his commission as a lieutenant in the U.S.N.R. Recently Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hubbard gave a dinner party for their son-in-law, Lt. Lawrence E. Kelly's home leave.

Next in party, and on Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Crane and the James H. McBlains are entertaining at an old-fashioned Halloween party. Lt. Morse left Monday morning but Mrs. Morse is spending a few days with her parents. He is returning tomorrow.

MILITARY FAMILY

Another military-minded family in our midst are A. H. Ottens who live on Linden road. They just received word that their son, George, who is stationed on the West coast, has been promoted from the rank of first lieutenant to that of a captain in the army. Their next son, Louis, is being produced at the Naval Training School, North Carolina. Hamover, N. H., with one more month to go before production. Finally, there is Sgt. Art he enlisted in the army not too awfully long ago and is being sent to England. Right now he is back in the States attending Officers' Training school at Fort Sill, Okla.

Mrs. Clifford B. Gould is in Miami, Fla., this week visiting her husband, Major Gould. Sgt. Joseph Smith has been spending a few days through the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence P. Smith at Foxcroft.

PARTIES

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. W. O. Briggs, Jr. was hostess to a few of her friends at luncheon. On Friday Mrs. Fred M. Doris will entertain her brideless bride club (they now do Red Cross Sewing) at luncheon in her home. And on Sunday evening last, Mrs. William Cushing gave an informal
