WAGES 2 cents an hour!

AN AD such as this one, if it appeared in the newspaper today, would probably draw hundreds of replies-provided that eager, prospective employers didn't think it too good to be true. Actually, not a word in the ad is exaggerated: Every bit of it is true -even the wages of 2 cents an hour-when applied to your household electric servants.

The commoner electric servants in your home work for a few cents per day. Some of them operate for only a fraction of a cent per hour. See how cheaply electricity serves you (at the thrifty "bargain" step in your residence rate, 21/4c net per unit) in halfa-dozen daily jobs:

ONE CENT will run your electric clock a whole week . . . or chill your electric refrigerator for more than 10 hours . . . or tune in your favorite radio program for the whole evening . . . or run your vacuum cleaner for nearly two hours . . . or brown the family toast for several breakfasts . . . or make 15 cups of coffee . . . or do half the weekly wash . . . or iron clothes for an hour . . . or wash the dishes for three

Your residential electric service costs only about ONE-HALF as much today as it did twenty years ago. If other things were as cheap, the cost of living would be half what it is. The Detroit Edison Company.
