High School Play Delights Audience In 2 Performances

By CAROLYN KANE. High school charm at its funniest and best delighted the audience which saw "June Mad," Baldwin High School's annual play, last Thursday and Friday.

Although the difficulty of their roles was often overshadowed by the comedy parts, Phyllis Chappell and Jim Gilchrist were perfect as the understanding parents of a 15-year-old with a crush on a college boy.

Sports Showup

By BILL WYCKOFF. With basketball over, our attention now turns to the spring sports. Baldwin has much to hope for in all four sports, but track and basketball will vie for the No. 1 position.
