GIRL SCOUTS

ATTENTION, GIRL SCOUTS!
Juliette Low Fund

Only two troops have turned in their contributions to the Juliette Low Memorial Fund. This fund was formerly used to promote friendship between girls of different countries. The money is currently being used to aid the cause of freedom. Mrs. Earl W. Essery is chairman of this fund for Birmingham and says if troop leaders will call her at 198, she will be glad to make arrangements about picking up the money. Juliette Low funds are due in August.

Troop News
Mrs. Otha Wigger was in charge of scouting Girl Scouts to help issue the new ration books recently. She has compiled some interesting facts about the girls who responded to this call. Thirty girls worked a total of 180 hours with high honors going to Rebba Watts who worked 12 hours. Half of the girls were from Troop 4, and Troops 3, 5, and 6 were also represented.

Day Camp Echoes
Last Friday afternoon the Day Camp at Springdale Park held open house. About 40 parents and other people interested in scouting were present. Among them was Mrs. Howard B. Holden of Detroit, who

Just what the Doctor Ordered

The writing of a prescription by a doctor imposes a double responsibility. The one is with the patient or his attendants in following the doctor's orders; the other is with the druggist in supplying medicine exactly as prescribed. Your doctor's instructions are followed to the minutest detail when the prescription is brought to us. You're absolutely certain of accurate compounding of the highest quality ingredients obtainable.
