Service Men's Wives Get Maternity Aid

More than 1,900 wives of men in the armed forces have applied to the War Relocation Authority for Health for maternity and pediatric care since June 6, according to an announcement made by Dr. H. A. Moyer, State Health Commissioner.

Funds for this care have been provided by Congress for wives of enlisted men serving in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, and medical and nursing care for their babies. The funds allocated to Michigan are being administered by the State Health Department in accordance with a plan approved by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor.

The funds provide for medical care before the baby is born and at childbirth, whether the mother stays at home or goes to a hospital, she and her baby may receive medical and nursing care. Complete maternity care is provided, including a final physical examination six weeks after the baby is born, and the baby may receive medical care during the first year of life if it is acutely ill.

Some wives are under the impression that payment can be made directly to them. Dr. Moyer points out that a Child's Bureau ruling requires that all payments be made to the physician or to the hospital on receipt of detailed statement of services rendered. Eligible applicants may obtain application blanks from their physicians, the local health department or the local Red Cross chapter. It is important, said Dr. Moyer, that the applications carry the signatures of both the physician and the prospective mother before they are submitted to the State Health Department.
