Baldwin

On Feb. 9, the Baldwin P.-T.A. is sponsoring a lecture by John S. Bugas, head of the Detroit area of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He is qualified to speak very interestingly of his work because of his wide experience.

Admission for adults will be 50 cents, students, 25 cents. Since all proceeds will go toward buying needed equipment for the cafeteria, this project will be supported by all the Parent-Teacher's Associations.

Attendance Poor Past Two Weeks

Because of the severe weather these past two weeks an average of more than one-third of Baldwin's students have been absent at one time or another.

Mrs. Irene B. Stevens, attendance clerk, explained that some of the absences were because of colds and flue. Tuesday and Wednesday proved to be worse; Thursday and Friday more students attended school.

Franklin and Wing Lake buses came early several afternoons to take students home. These buses ran every morning of the bad weather, but the passengers couldn't get through the snow in time to catch them.

"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, Jan. 31.
The Golden Text (Jude 1:21) is: "Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life."
Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matthew 9:35): "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people."
Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 494): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Baldwin High School Had Dedication Program 25 Years Ago This Month

It was just 25 years ago that Birmingham's high school, named for Miss Martha Baldwin, civic leader, was dedicated. Residents who relish a bit of local history will enjoy this reprint from The Eccentric of Feb. 1, 1918:

THE DEDICATION
Of New Baldwin High School Is Largely Attended. A. L. Moore Gives Fine Educational Address.

Although Friday evening, Jan. 25, was very cold and blustery, more than 1,000 people accepted the invitation of the Board of Education and visited the new Baldwin high school. The visitors were conducted in groups around the building by students who explained the uses of the various rooms and finally assembled in the auditorium where the following program was given.

Invocation, Rev. W. C. McKnight; "Largo," High School chorus; Address of Welcome, Mr. R. J. Coryell; "I Know a Hill," "The Dove" (folk song of Tuscany), Seva B. Green; Life of Martha Baldwin, Mrs. Clarence Vliet, president of the Ladies' Literary Club; "On Music's Wing," and "When Twilight Weaves," Girls' Glee Club; Modern Education, Mr. A. L. Moore; "Winter Song" and "Hush! Yo' Honey, Hush!" Messrs. Arthur Peck, Allen Brown, D. A. Green, Elvin Edwards; Address of Acceptance, Mr. W. D. Clizbe, President of Birmingham; Sailing and Song of the Vikings, High School Chorus; Benediction, Rev. Earle R. Rice.

After the conclusion of the program, sweaters were presented to the football team and Mr. Cobb, the coach, and R's to the members of the reserve team. The floor was then cleared and exhibition of the gymnasium apparatus was given by a group of Y boys led by Mr. Pinking, and at its conclusion a basketball game between a Pontiac high school team and the home team, resulted in favor of Birmingham, by a score of 22-4.

Luncheon was served in the domestic science room to all who came.

The building from the exterior looked like a fairy palace by reason of the brilliant lighting. Everyone admired interior, clean, sanitary and modern.

The boiler and fan rooms had many visitors. Small boys and nature men lingered in the manual training room, with its new benches and tools. The domestic science and sewing rooms appealed to the women, and everyone praised the spotless lunch room and fine appointments. But pleased as all were by session rooms, laboratories, offices, class rooms, library and vocational rooms, the final word came for the auditorium-gymnasium. "Just what Birmingham has needed for years," was the universal comment. Nor was their enthusiasm lessened when the asbestos curtain rolled up and revealed the pretty stage. The last chorus number gave opportunity to use the various lighting effects made possible by the elaborate system of red, white and blue lights installed in the footlights and various borders.

Many letters of regret were received from alumni and others who could not attend. The building is open at all times for inspection and visitors are welcome. The auditorium has many dates reserved for future use and the whole building and its equipment is open at any time for community use.

Cranbrook News

By ROBERT WILSON

Another revision of the service flag in the dining hall shows a total of 136 Cranbrook alumni in the armed forces. The gold star at the bottom, displaying the number seven, represents those who have died in the service of our country. They are Duane Crosthwaite, '38; John Grny, '39; James Palms, '35; Mason Stevens, '33; John Gillette, '36; John Saunders, '37; and Otto Kern, '41.

Hear About Marines

Captain Struhing, Marine Corps procurement officer for the Detroit District, visited the school last Friday and gave a brief address to the senior class. Under a plan now in progress, Cranbrook is among a group of schools selected by the Marine Corps to furnish it in the future with potential officer material. Fifteen per cent of the graduating class will be allowed to matriculate at college, perhaps for a full three-year course, on active status in the Marines and drawing basic private's pay. Upon graduation the men will be eligible for officer's training school. A medical officer is to be present one day a week for the physical examination of applicants.

See Movie

Last weekend's entertainment included the movie "To The Shores of Tripoli" on Saturday evening, very appropriate at this time, because of the project explained above, and a party at the Senior Cabin Sunday afternoon. Attending the latter were some 60 or 70 Kingswood and Cranbrook students who enjoyed dancing and winter sports in the snow.

Predicts Defeat Of Germany in '43

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—The year 1943 will almost certainly see the defeat of Germany!

This is the prediction made by Col. Henry W. Miller, chairman of the Department of Mechanism and Engineering Drawing at the University of Michigan and an officer in the Ordnance Reserve Corps, in an article entitled "The Progress of the War," appearing in the Quarterly Review of the Michigan Alumnus.

As for Japan, Colonel Miller believes that at least by the beginning of 1944, Russia, Britain, America and Australia will be free to dispose of the Nipponese effectively.

Regarding Germany, Colonel Miller points out that complete mopping up of North Africa will permit the Allies to threaten the Nazi nation from three directions —Russia, Britain and Africa. "If one after another of the German manufacturing centers are destroyed (by bombing), southern Europe invaded and the peoples there supplied with equipment, the Germans cannot hold out another year," he asserts.

Colonel Miller says the United States has waged a guerilla-type war against the Japs in the Pacific with such effect that it is safe to say that more than half of the Jap navy will be gone before the end of 1942.

"We shall then have arrived at the point in our power where a mass attack on the great manufacturing centers in Japan will become a possibility," he declares. "With a little more help to China, which is doing a magnificent job, we shall soon have many fine air bases on the East Coast of China from which Japan may be bombed very effectively."

What Was It?

Two years before Martin Van Buren was elected to the Presidency, he dined in a New York restaurant and handed the waiter a cup and saucer. "Take that away and change it," he directed. "What" asked the waiter, "shall I bring you instead—tea or coffee?"

Van Buren pointed to the cup and saucer. "If that stuff is tea," he explained, "bring me coffee; if it's coffee—bring me tea!"

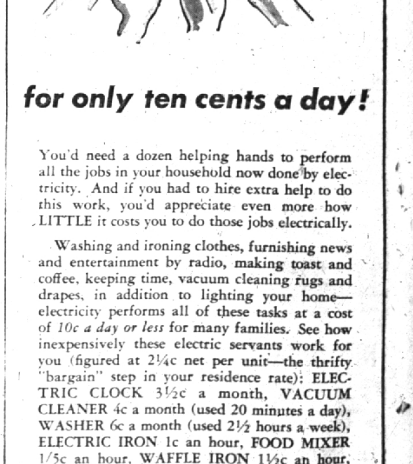
Electricity brings you a DOZEN HELPING HANDS



for only ten cents a day!

You'd need a dozen helping hands to perform all the jobs in your household now done by electricity. And if you had to hire extra help to do this work, you'd appreciate even more how LITTLE it costs you to do those jobs electrically.

Washing and ironing clothes, furnishing news and entertainment by radio, making toast and coffee, keeping time, vacuum cleaning rugs and drapes, in addition to lighting your home—electricity performs all of these tasks at a cost of 10c a day or less for many families. See how inexpensively these electric servants work for you (figured at 2¼c net per unit—the thrifty "bargain" step in your residence rate): ELECTRIC CLOCK 3½c a month, VACUUM CLEANER 4c a month (used 20 minutes a day), WASHER 6c a month (used 2½ hours a week), ELECTRIC IRON 1c an hour, FOOD MIXER 1/5c an hour, WAFFLE IRON 1½c an hour, HEATING PAD 1/10c an hour, REFRIGERATOR 16c a week, TOASTER 6c a month (used 5 minutes a day).

Probably nothing you buy today gives you so much in return as your electric service. It is one of the few things that has not increased in price. For 10c a day, would you go back to beating rugs by hand, scrubbing clothes on a washboard, cleaning oil lamps, using a sad iron, and all the other hours of drudgery of fifty years ago?
