International Class To Meet Aug. 5

The International Relations Class, for the first time, is holding summer sessions once every month in order to maintain continuity with the current happenings.

The next session will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles J. Shain, of Pierce street, at 1 o'clock Thursday, Aug. 5. Everyone is asked to bring her own sandwiches.

The class plans to discuss two recent books, "Undercover" by Carlson which deals with subversive activities in America, and "How to Win the Peace" by Carl Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament in exile.

Any interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

It always seems to take a pair of squeaky shoes the longest to get anywhere.—Kitchener Record (Canada).

Mrs. Northrup to Be Second Radio Speaker

Mrs. Layton L. Northrup, co-chairman with Miss Mary Woodward, will be the second speaker in the new series of nutrition programs over WCAR every Saturday morning. Mrs. Milton F. Mallendar inaugurated the new series last Saturday at 10:30.

Mrs. Northrup will speak on canning budgets, which will prove of great value to housewives who will be canning the produce from their victory gardens and other products for the coming winter.

The general subject for the series, which is under the auspices of the Oakland County Nutrition Committee, is canning and food preservation.

LET'S ALL SAVE SHOE LEATHER!
MAKE YOUR SHOES LAST LONGER
THERE ARE TWO WAYS TO DO THIS:
1—Buy good shoes that really fit.
2—Keep them in good repair.
Just as you now pay close attention to the tires on your automobile, so each of us should treat our shoes with equal care.
For 21 years we have served men and women, boys and girls, of Birmingham and vicinity—and we are proud of that record. And while this war lasts, you may be sure that we are doing everything possible to maintain as complete a selection of shoes and accessories as possible for your entire family.

Eastern Girl Wed to Edward Watkins

Before a beautiful background of flowers and trees on the lawn of Dr. and Mrs. William Saretzki's home in Putnam, Conn., Miriam Saretzki exchanged her wedding vows with Edward C. Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Watkins, of Knox street, Birmingham. The ceremony was held Friday, July 23, at 6 o'clock and was performed by the Rev. Richards, rector of Putnam Christ Church.

The attendants were Constance Saretzki, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor, and Douglas Herrick, of Bloomfield Hills, who was best man.

The bride's gown of white net was fashioned with a lace bodice and a slight train. The net veil was finger-tip length and fell from a heart-shaped cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and stephanotis. The maid of honor's gown was of peice chiffon.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Saretzki home and later the couple left for Detroit via Niagara Falls. For traveling, the bride wore a blue and white silk suit and white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins both attended Oberlin College, the bride being a graduate of the Conservatory of Music. They will make their home in Detroit.

Couple's Troth Told At Surprise Party

Minnie E. Wade was given a double surprise Saturday, July 17, when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wade, of West Maple

Miss Wade

Avenue, gave her a surprise birthday party, and among the many gifts from her friends was an engagement ring presented to her by her fiance, George Lendzian, which revealed the news of their engagement to the guests.

Minnie is a 1939 graduate of Baldwin High School and George, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lendzian, of Big Beaver, is a graduate of Big Beaver High School.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Tells How Concert Proceeds Are Used At U. S. Hospital

Members of the Birmingham Musicale and MOMS Club, and persons who recently attended a concert of chamber music here, will be interested in the following letter received by Mrs. Kenneth E. Turner, 188 Oakland, from Mrs. A. P. Peterson, service chairman of Michigan Federation of Music Clubs:

Dear Mrs. Turner:

"Thank you" is a feeble word to use at such a time. I guess there isn't a word to cover the subject. Friday's mail brought a letter from our son who is on an island in the southwest Pacific and your check for $253.50. I sat there and read them through and then a lump came in my throat and the tears poured over. Don't get the idea that I'm a "sob sister" for I'm not. There is no time for tears with so much to do but that combination was just too much.

It is simply thrilling the things you people at Birmingham have done.

At Percy Jones Hospital there are many patients who are not bedfast and yet they must remain there for care. The Red Cross thought a string ensemble or a group playing string instruments would be a nice plan, so they got some instruments, guitars, banjos, etc. that needed restringing, picks and other repairs. I told them the S.F.M.C. of Michigan would pay for the repairs if they would get the instruments. This is being done and the work is about finished. A B.C. morning musical club member teaches fretted instruments and will teach these boys. Will it be alright to use some of this money for those repairs? The teacher will give her time.

Some radios have been donated that need repairing too. They need these badly.

I was up Friday to visit a soldier formerly of Detroit that just had his leg amputated on Thursday. He said four others in his ward had amputations the same day. His wife came Saturday and she said he was in terrible pain.

I'll keep a strict account of how the $253.50 is spent so you can have a report for the club. Again thanks.

Brooker-Ormond Rites Performed At Christ Church

Mrs. John K. Ormond, Jr., the former Joy Brooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Brooker, Indian Village Manor, spoke her marriage vows last Friday to Lt. Ormand, USMCR, son of Dr. and Mrs. John K. Ormand, of Waddington road. The service was held at Christ Church, Cranbrook, with the Rev. Charles H. Cadigan officiating.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of Alencon lace, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. Tiny, satin-covered buttons fastened the dress down the back, and the long tight sleeves tapered to points over the wrists. Her finger-tip illusion veil was held in place by a juliet cap of lace, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Her two attendants, Mary McKinney Goodson, of Knoxville, Tenn., who was maid of honor, and Emily Giffels, of Birmingham, were in similiar gowns of marquisette, with drop waists, bouffant skirts, and three-quarter length sleeves. Miss Goodson's dress was peach with a hat of matching net, and she carried gladioli of the same color. Miss Giffels' dress was aqua with a matching net hat. She also carried peach gladioli.

The groom's best man was George Thompson, of Cleveland, and the ushers were Arthur W. Bull, of Birmingham, and Kenneth Kleinknicht, of Cleveland.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brooker chose a gown of lilac crepe and a feathered hat of fuchsia. Mrs. Ormand wore a navy blue and white ensemble. Both mothers wore orchids.

Following the service a dinner was given at the Detroit Atheletic Club for the immediate members of the families. The table was beautifully decorated with three large bowls of carnations and calla lilies. Several candelabra with tall white tapers added to the effect.

For traveling the bride wore a faille ensemble of luggage tan with a canary yellow topcoat and brown accessories. Her corsage was two green orchids and several small spider orchids. The couple left for San Diego, where Lt. Ormond will be stationed with the Marine Corps Air Branch.

Junior AWVS Cultivates Garden

Junior AWVS girls are busy these days cultivating their victory garden on the corner of Bates and Willits, Mrs. W. Carleton Scott, director of the group, reports.

In spite of the late planting, the girls are producing fine looking crops and have added color and design to the garden by the use of border flowers. Janet Zinser, Abby Stoll and Sally Mock are supervisors for certain days of the week and they are ably assisted by Judy Sappington, Eleanor Penfield and Charlotte Smith. Gerry Flynn, Donis Murray and Margaret Ritchie who have jobs in Detroit during the day have been putting in their stint on Monday evenings.

Local Group Hears Quaker at Meeting

Some of the members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Birmingham group and other representatives of Birmingham organizations attended a meeting held at the home of Mrs. M. E. Hugg, of Pleasant Ridge, Tuesday afternoon at which Mrs. Eleanor Stabler Clark, of Philadelphia, head of shipping for the American Friends' service Committee was the speaker.

Mrs. Clark said that the Friends' Committee had sent out 80 tons of clothing and bedding to England, North Africa, Spain, certain articles to Portugal, and Greece.

Members of the Kappas who attended were Mrs. Arthur N. Taylor, Mrs. Milton F. Mallender, Mrs. Charles H. Betts, Mrs. Max Coulter, of Orchard Lake, and Mrs. James D. Rogers. From other organizations were Mrs. George T. Hendrie, Mrs. J. N. Hadjisky, Mrs. Charles J. Shain, and Mrs. Gordon R. Pennington.

Local Women Take Part in Institute
