Sir Walter Raleigh drank his beer Before he started out for here.

> Twas made all in an open•pot, And dust got in it, like as not.

The Indians, too, made beer from maize: It aged in open vats for days.

Although the taste was odd enough, Sir Walter seemed to like the stuff.

It took us quite a bit of doing To find a better way of brewing. We might say that it all began

One day right here in Michigan. When Altes tightly sealed its brews, That really made historic news!

And that's how Altes won its favor-From first to last it keeps its flavor!

Make yourself an Altes trial -Boy-it's better by a mile!

If Mother Nature had brewed a fine beer, its flavor would have been aged-in and sealed-in just like it is with fruits and nuts. That's why we protect the delicious flavor of purest malt and hops used in brewing Altes Lager by the exclusive Aged-In. Sealed-In Altes brewing process. Air and impuritie cannot get to Altes—so we say . . . no other beer can offer you so much.

AGED-IN SEALED-IN FLAVOR!
