Don't make that Long Distance call unless it's really necessary!

Mrs. Housewife, you and your family are patriotic citizens—eager to aid the war effort in every way you can.

Long Distance telephone lines are communication channels that help make America's war production fast and efficient. Many of them are crowded with essential war messages today, and the less important civilian calls must not interfere.

You can do your part by following these rules:

Do not make a Long Distance call unless it is really important.

Keep every call as brief as you can.

100,000 MILES AS A LONG WAY!

Let's say the life of an automobile is 100,000 miles. That is just the number of miles of automobile travel required for a single reading of this Company's meters in 38 Michigan counties.

So you might say that a new automobile was worn out every month — together with several sets of tires — when meters were read monthly.

Now it's every two months, for in line with the Government's program of conserving automobiles, tires and gasoline, we are reading household meters and some commercial meters only once in two months. This is the customer's interest for it prolongs the usefulness of the automobiles and tires needed to maintain essential service to homes, offices and industries.

Because most customers like to budget their expenses on a monthly basis, we are continuing to send you a bill every month. Your payment for the month when the meter is not read represents a payment on account and keeps the bill from piling up on you.
