Knocking on Wood

with JOHN H. HARWOOD
POSTWAR ORGANIZATION

Rumors trickle through from London that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have already tentatively agreed to a form of postwar organization. The top, to enforce peace, will be the Big Four—the United States, the British Commonwealth of Nations, Russia and China, according to the rumors, and if true, they appear to have some basis in reality.

For you can call the leagues of nations you care to organize, but the same fact remains: If the major world powers cannot cooperate on a program for peace there will be no peace.

If the United States, Britain, France and Russia had jointly told Hitler at any one of the various stages at which he started to terrorize Europe: "One more step and our armies and air forces will move against you," Hitler would not have dared to move. Germany capitalized upon a division of foreign policy amongst the other world powers.

The Trump Cards
Thus, you can invite every nation to join in a world confederation, and every nation can promise to forego war after the world is a wasteland of effort if the nations with the big stick don't use it when a crisis comes.

So, when we try to piece together the wreckage after the war, there is no balance of power for an organization something like the League of Nations with the World Court to debate and enforce the laws, but at the top must and will be the United States, Britain and Russia, together with China, possibly, in a supreme council with final authority. Let the smaller nations, as much as possible, be organized as they see fit, but none should be allowed to attack her neighbor without permission of the Supreme Council.

That, in brief, is what I think is the obvious outline of a program for the world which is based on reason.

Key to the Future
But what is it possible for the Big Four to get together? The key to the situation, I believe, lies with the conservatives in the United States and Britain. In the 1930s, the British conservatives committed the fatal error which led to their defeat in collaboration with Russia. The reason, of course, was that the conservatives had no faith

Self-Defense Is First Objective

There are many Americans who proclaim that the United States is fighting a "war of liberation" and that the goal of our present struggle is to provide freedom for all peoples in the world, with the right to complete self-government.

The ideal is one that should be encouraged by all thinking Americans, but there is danger in associating it with our war purpose. The fundamental fact is that we are in this war in self-defense, having been attacked by a combination of enemy nations.

The only justification for American participation in world order, or in any international police force, is the successful defense of this country and the prevention of another war. Our national purpose is to make the United States secure and to assure that people the blessings of peace in the future.

It should be apparent to all who do not now engage in the war that the success of the Axis powers will mean the gradual enslavement of the world. This is the danger that confronts us and all other people and it is the peril that we should avert through the use of armed force.

Optimistic Report of the Day Department
The present tough going in Tunisia suggests future German strategy—and a long war. We've seen reading how much the United States advanced here and attacked there, but I've been marking the advances on a map near my desk, and the mileage gained has been slight indeed.

THE REASON WHY
People are bewildered by the constant flow of charges and counter-charges out of Washington, with members of the President's own administration battling bitterly with each other.

What a perfect example of the President's biggest mistake in the war: his failure to establish a real cabinet or war council at which honest differences of opinion and varying policies—something which is to be expected—can be ironed out SENSIBLY through conference table.

LT. GEN. ANDREWS
The Army Air Forces will keenly miss Lt. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, whose untimely death in Iceland a tactician, quiet man, he nevertheless spoke up enough in favor of a larger air force to get a demotion—some say—from brigadier general back to colonel. However, when the semi-autonomous AAF was organized, he was given important posts and last was C. O. of all American forces in the European theater. A real soldier with the modern concept of war, he liked to fly, and although some of his ideas were not adopted, he was trusted at the controls. Andrews couldn't see the propriety of his not keeping in practice at the stick.

Old Age Pensions

Under the federal government's old age and survivors' insurance program, hundreds of human beings in the Oakland County area each month receive checks for the average current month's checks total $1,415,475, are being mailed out from Pontiac, the headquarters for this area, recently revealed Albert W. Boehringer, manager.

It is interesting to note, too, since war began, that approximately 500,000 persons throughout the whole United States have not received a month of gainful employment, and are not getting checks that otherwise would be mailed to them.

Type of Beneficiary	Total Number	Monthly Payments
Retired workers	561	$13,611.00
Widows over 65	169	2,414.00
Widows under 65	50	1,115.00
Widows with children	24	6,270.00
Children	140	11,590.00
Adult dependent parents	3	126.00

Total for area 1943 $5,315,500

In a large degree, the AMERICAN PEOPLE are looking to Washington, D. C., for the type of leadership that will win this war with the least loss of life, property and human lives.

THIS COMMUNITY WENT OVER THE TOP in the recent sale of War Bonds. Chairman H. H. Gardner wanted his canvassers to sell at least $500,000 of the Bonds, and now it appears that more than $1,000,000 were sold. Congratulations to all who took part in the effort!
