

These are times to test the basic Christianity of human beings. The things that are wrong out in life are generally the seeds that grow through our total neglect in the course of life. We cannot be neglected, if you would have a good garden. What each of us does to right things, finally, is what counts.

These are times to test the basic Christianity of human beings. The things that are wrong out in life are generally the seeds that grow through our total neglect in the course of life. We cannot be neglected, if you would have a good garden. What each of us does to right things, finally, is what counts.

SIXTY-SIXTH YEAR—NO. 35

THE S and THAT

By G. R. A.

British Leader Says U. S. "Santa Claus Role" Injurious to Post-War Peace

For many, many months there has been coming from high places in the federal government the grandiose notion that the rich United States must, during and after the war, become the Santa Claus of practically every impoverished nation on earth.

We all have read of these plans, uttered in the words and writings of men like Vice-President Henry Wallace, Eleanor Roosevelt, and even the President, from them on down through the range of radical New Dealers to professors, professional sociologists and charity workers. We have heard the thought echoed: "Rich Uncle Sam, from the vastness of his great wealth, must see that the backward nations are fed and housed, educated and given employment, etc., etc."

We have also read statements by practical men and women that such a plan as this is beyond the nation's powers; that no day the nations that have been promised Santa Claus aid will get mad and resent our efforts to fulfill these grandiose plans.

Well realizing these things, you may rest assured that I was tremendously impressed, even astounded, a few days ago when I heard an important Britisher talk to the contrary; he was no other than Sir Patrick Duff, Deputy High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada. Sir Patrick was addressing an international meeting of Rotarians at Windsor.

From 1923 to 1933 he was private secretary to former Prime Ministers Stanley Baldwin and Ramsay MacDonald. He was Secretary, Minister of Works and Public Buildings for British prior to the war. He was also secretary of a boy in British affairs, you see.

Sir Patrick spoke chiefly of post-war problems. Summed up briefly, he strongly opposed internationalism; he was against backward people; help them within their own powers, but why tell them they are backward when you build him a house on a hill when you know it can't be done?

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

Don't spoon-feed! In any nation, any group of people within a nation for, as Sir Patrick put it, "that is the straight road to dictatorship. Government cannot solve all the problems of people; the people, themselves, must find their own solution through individual efforts, through their own talents and toil and ambitions."

Will Tide Turn Maples' Way After 10 Yrs?

Contest with Royal Oak Set for 10:30 Thursday

When the starter's gun sounds for the kickoff in the 45th renewal of the Birmingham-Royal Oak football game at Case Field, Royal Oak, tomorrow morning at 10:30, 22 high school football players will be locked in a struggle which will determine whether Birmingham's Maples return home victorious over the Acorns for the first time since 1933.

Nor will the estimated 5,000 persons who will attend the annual Turkey Day classic be the only ones interested in who is entitled to the possession of the Little Brown Jug—the well-worn, earthen trophy—symbol of victory.

Many letters have been received by Birmingham students and teachers from members of the armed forces—who were former students at Baldwin High School—asking that the results be wired, not written, to them immediately.

Tomorrow's game will not be lacking in the familiar hard rivalry and good sportsmanship which have always marked previous contests between the two schools.

A pre-game forecast of the outcome as based on season performance is hard to make, but the team plays its best for it is out to win.

The Acorns, members of the Border Cities League which comprises one of the largest and strongest high schools in the state, have hung up victories over Wyandotte, Berkeley, Hazel Park, and other teams in the league.

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

E. C. McBride Sells Garage Building At 464 South Woodward

Warren Sumner, operator of the Buick Agency at 464 South Woodward, has arranged with the Birmingham-Royal Oak football game at Case Field, Royal Oak, tomorrow morning at 10:30, 22 high school football players will be locked in a struggle which will determine whether Birmingham's Maples return home victorious over the Acorns for the first time since 1933.

It is reported that the new owners of the building will carry on a manufacturing operation connected with the war effort, but Frank D. McAllister, 630 Wadsworth, who negotiated the purchase with Mr. McBride before the latter left for Florida, Nov. 15, said the Eccentric that no statement could be made at this time.

More Than $21,000 Given to War Fund In Bloomfield Twp.

More than $21,000 has been collected, with a few additional returns yet to be made, by the United War Fund solicitors of Bloomfield Township, Mrs. Gladys Chisus, secretary of the solicitation group, reported Tuesday.

Nor will the estimated 5,000 persons who will attend the annual Turkey Day classic be the only ones interested in who is entitled to the possession of the Little Brown Jug—the well-worn, earthen trophy—symbol of victory.

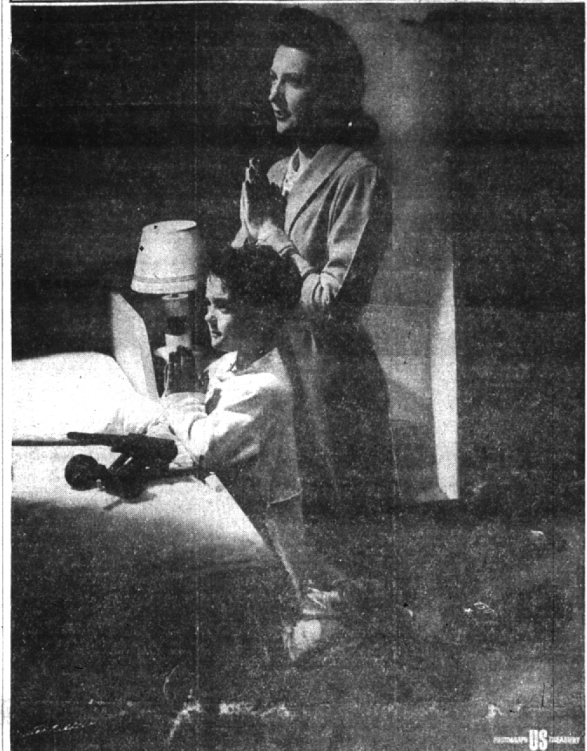

Many letters have been received by Birmingham students and teachers from members of the armed forces—who were former students at Baldwin High School—asking that the results be wired, not written, to them immediately.

Tomorrow's game will not be lacking in the familiar hard rivalry and good sportsmanship which have always marked previous contests between the two schools.

A pre-game forecast of the outcome as based on season performance is hard to make, but the team plays its best for it is out to win.

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

THIS THANKSGIVING DAY—1943

We're thankful we live in the United States and for the ideals of liberty and freedom exemplified in our form of government. We are thankful for our free institutions and our way of life. We are thankful that we are able to buy War Bonds voluntarily, so that we may have a personal and direct hand in bringing him back to us sooner. God bless him and keep him safe for us.

Eight Churches Holding Special Wartime Thanksgiving Services

Thanksgiving Day, the great American family festival of acknowledgment and praise for the mercies and blessings of God, will be observed by the congregations of Birmingham churches as follows:

Christ Church Cranbrook and St. James Church, Birmingham, will have their fourth joint Thanksgiving service together at St. James church at 10 a. m. Thursday.

It has been traditional for these two Episcopal parishes to celebrate Thanksgiving service together at St. James and New Year's service at Christ church. The Rev. Charles Kadigan will preach.

Union Thanksgiving Service will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, at 8 a. m. The Rev. Charles C. Becker of First Methodist Church will give the sermon.

Governor Kelly's proclamation for Thanksgiving Day, calling for its observance "in a spirit of reverence and gratitude to Almighty God for all the blessings we have received, closes with the request that the American flag be displayed."

Following the usual order of service there will be a brief period in which members of the congregation may express their gratitude for healings and other help which they have received during the past year.

The Golden Text from Psalms (116:12-17), will be very appropriate for the occasion and readers of the Bible may express their gratitude for healings and other help which they have received during the past year.

The special music will be given by the choir of First Presbyterian Church, the selection being, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crandall. The offering will be used for the support of religious education in the Birmingham schools.

As is customary in all Christian Science Churches, a special Thanksgiving service will be held on Thanksgiving Day in First Church of Christ Scientist in Birmingham.

Following the usual order of service there will be a brief period in which members of the congregation may express their gratitude for healings and other help which they have received during the past year.

The special music will be given by the choir of First Presbyterian Church, the selection being, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crandall. The offering will be used for the support of religious education in the Birmingham schools.

The special music will be given by the choir of First Presbyterian Church, the selection being, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crandall. The offering will be used for the support of religious education in the Birmingham schools.

What to Give and What Not In Old Clothing Drive

Headquarters for the clothing drive the local salvage committee is conducting for the WPA and foreign relief agencies is at 87 North Woodward, where members of the AWVS are in charge throughout this week.

Next Monday the MOMS Club will handle the work and continue through Dec. when the Neighborhood War Clubs will take over until the end of the drive on Dec. 4. Hours are 9 to 5.

The following items are NOT wanted: hats, shoes, leather gloves, neckties, suspenders, belts, corsets, galoshes, rubber coats or boots, diapers and other similar articles.

The collection primarily is for warm, outmoded clothing which cannot be used by the families contributing it, including heavy coats, sweaters, skirts, robes, wool mittens and gloves, shirt, nightgowns, pajamas, snow suits, infants' apparel and underwear.

Despite the fact the house was broken into and its interior wrecked, and that Erik Bergshagen, a kennel operator at 3520 Adams, opposite the vacant building, called that occurred and notified Mrs. Israel, but in turn sent some men working on her place to the scene who caught the boys at their vandalism, no one at that time thought of making a complaint.

If they had been held and MacLean summoned, he could have proceeded against them without further action by the Israel. He states he pleaded with them for two days to stop a complaint.

The Israel says that parents of the boys called on them in a group Sunday night and "apologized" for the incident. No offering was made for the damage done was made or made. Mrs. Israel says the boys, when asked why they wrecked the house, replied: "We thought it was empty and didn't belong to any one. One of the youths is said to be the son of a Royal Oak police officer. The only thing that was taken from the Israel is that of the youth whose parents' car was used by the group."

Based on the rate of $22.45 per $100 on the assessed valuation, the 1943 tax is $11 less than the corresponding 1942 tax, which was $22.45.

Of the $22.45 rate this year, the greatest part is formed by the Birmingham school tax—school operating expenses—$10.85; taxes due: $6.50, or a total of $17.35. Forming the remainder of the tax rate are county operating expenses, $4.07; county debt, $7.81; and drain-at-large, $2.55.

Wreck House, 6 Youths Go Unpunished

Police Called Too Late; Owners Won't Sign Complaint

Damage of between $1,000 and $1500 was done to a vacant house on Adams Road belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Israel of 3069 Adams last Friday by six Royal Oak high school students who skipped school and went joy-riding, but at latest checking it appears they will go wholly unpunished for their act.

Mrs. Israel admitted to Stewart MacLean, Bloomfield township police officer who investigated the case, that unwillingness of her husband to proceed with formal prosecution of the case, left her unable to sign a complaint under which the youths, all believed to be under 17, could be taken before the probate court at Pontiac.

Despite the fact the house was broken into and its interior wrecked, and that Erik Bergshagen, a kennel operator at 3520 Adams, opposite the vacant building, called that occurred and notified Mrs. Israel, but in turn sent some men working on her place to the scene who caught the boys at their vandalism, no one at that time thought of making a complaint.

If they had been held and MacLean summoned, he could have proceeded against them without further action by the Israel. He states he pleaded with them for two days to stop a complaint.

The Israel says that parents of the boys called on them in a group Sunday night and "apologized" for the incident. No offering was made for the damage done was made or made. Mrs. Israel says the boys, when asked why they wrecked the house, replied: "We thought it was empty and didn't belong to any one. One of the youths is said to be the son of a Royal Oak police officer. The only thing that was taken from the Israel is that of the youth whose parents' car was used by the group."

Based on the rate of $22.45 per $100 on the assessed valuation, the 1943 tax is $11 less than the corresponding 1942 tax, which was $22.45.

Of the $22.45 rate this year, the greatest part is formed by the Birmingham school tax—school operating expenses—$10.85; taxes due: $6.50, or a total of $17.35. Forming the remainder of the tax rate are county operating expenses, $4.07; county debt, $7.81; and drain-at-large, $2.55.

Property owners will have until January 10 to pay this tax bill, plus the 1% collection charge, without additional penalty. After this date, a 3% penalty will be added, payable to the city treasurer before March 1, 1944.

THE S and THAT

By G. R. A.

British Leader Says U. S. "Santa Claus Role" Injurious to Post-War Peace

For many, many months there has been coming from high places in the federal government the grandiose notion that the rich United States must, during and after the war, become the Santa Claus of practically every impoverished nation on earth.

We all have read of these plans, uttered in the words and writings of men like Vice-President Henry Wallace, Eleanor Roosevelt, and even the President, from them on down through the range of radical New Dealers to professors, professional sociologists and charity workers. We have heard the thought echoed: "Rich Uncle Sam, from the vastness of his great wealth, must see that the backward nations are fed and housed, educated and given employment, etc., etc."

We have also read statements by practical men and women that such a plan as this is beyond the nation's powers; that no day the nations that have been promised Santa Claus aid will get mad and resent our efforts to fulfill these grandiose plans.

Well realizing these things, you may rest assured that I was tremendously impressed, even astounded, a few days ago when I heard an important Britisher talk to the contrary; he was no other than Sir Patrick Duff, Deputy High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada. Sir Patrick was addressing an international meeting of Rotarians at Windsor.

From 1923 to 1933 he was private secretary to former Prime Ministers Stanley Baldwin and Ramsay MacDonald. He was Secretary, Minister of Works and Public Buildings for British prior to the war. He was also secretary of a boy in British affairs, you see.

Sir Patrick spoke chiefly of post-war problems. Summed up briefly, he strongly opposed internationalism; he was against backward people; help them within their own powers, but why tell them they are backward when you build him a house on a hill when you know it can't be done?

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

Don't spoon-feed! In any nation, any group of people within a nation for, as Sir Patrick put it, "that is the straight road to dictatorship. Government cannot solve all the problems of people; the people, themselves, must find their own solution through individual efforts, through their own talents and toil and ambitions."

Will Tide Turn Maples' Way After 10 Yrs?

Contest with Royal Oak Set for 10:30 Thursday

When the starter's gun sounds for the kickoff in the 45th renewal of the Birmingham-Royal Oak football game at Case Field, Royal Oak, tomorrow morning at 10:30, 22 high school football players will be locked in a struggle which will determine whether Birmingham's Maples return home victorious over the Acorns for the first time since 1933.

Nor will the estimated 5,000 persons who will attend the annual Turkey Day classic be the only ones interested in who is entitled to the possession of the Little Brown Jug—the well-worn, earthen trophy—symbol of victory.

Many letters have been received by Birmingham students and teachers from members of the armed forces—who were former students at Baldwin High School—asking that the results be wired, not written, to them immediately.

Tomorrow's game will not be lacking in the familiar hard rivalry and good sportsmanship which have always marked previous contests between the two schools.

A pre-game forecast of the outcome as based on season performance is hard to make, but the team plays its best for it is out to win.

The Acorns, members of the Border Cities League which comprises one of the largest and strongest high schools in the state, have hung up victories over Wyandotte, Berkeley, Hazel Park, and other teams in the league.

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

E. C. McBride Sells Garage Building At 464 South Woodward

Warren Sumner, operator of the Buick Agency at 464 South Woodward, has arranged with the Birmingham-Royal Oak football game at Case Field, Royal Oak, tomorrow morning at 10:30, 22 high school football players will be locked in a struggle which will determine whether Birmingham's Maples return home victorious over the Acorns for the first time since 1933.

It is reported that the new owners of the building will carry on a manufacturing operation connected with the war effort, but Frank D. McAllister, 630 Wadsworth, who negotiated the purchase with Mr. McBride before the latter left for Florida, Nov. 15, said the Eccentric that no statement could be made at this time.

More Than $21,000 Given to War Fund In Bloomfield Twp.

More than $21,000 has been collected, with a few additional returns yet to be made, by the United War Fund solicitors of Bloomfield Township, Mrs. Gladys Chisus, secretary of the solicitation group, reported Tuesday.

Nor will the estimated 5,000 persons who will attend the annual Turkey Day classic be the only ones interested in who is entitled to the possession of the Little Brown Jug—the well-worn, earthen trophy—symbol of victory.

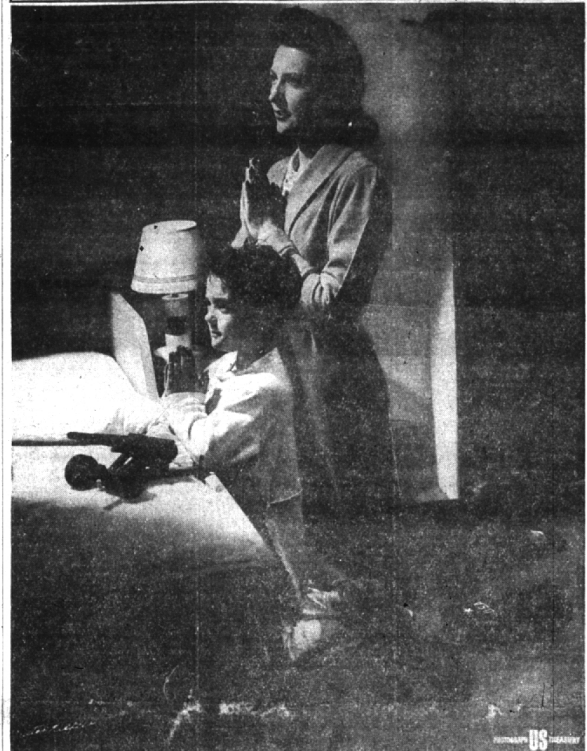

Many letters have been received by Birmingham students and teachers from members of the armed forces—who were former students at Baldwin High School—asking that the results be wired, not written, to them immediately.

Tomorrow's game will not be lacking in the familiar hard rivalry and good sportsmanship which have always marked previous contests between the two schools.

A pre-game forecast of the outcome as based on season performance is hard to make, but the team plays its best for it is out to win.

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

THIS THANKSGIVING DAY—1943

We're thankful we live in the United States and for the ideals of liberty and freedom exemplified in our form of government. We are thankful for our free institutions and our way of life. We are thankful that we are able to buy War Bonds voluntarily, so that we may have a personal and direct hand in bringing him back to us sooner. God bless him and keep him safe for us.

Eight Churches Holding Special Wartime Thanksgiving Services

Thanksgiving Day, the great American family festival of acknowledgment and praise for the mercies and blessings of God, will be observed by the congregations of Birmingham churches as follows:

Christ Church Cranbrook and St. James Church, Birmingham, will have their fourth joint Thanksgiving service together at St. James church at 10 a. m. Thursday.

It has been traditional for these two Episcopal parishes to celebrate Thanksgiving service together at St. James and New Year's service at Christ church. The Rev. Charles Kadigan will preach.

Union Thanksgiving Service will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, at 8 a. m. The Rev. Charles C. Becker of First Methodist Church will give the sermon.

Governor Kelly's proclamation for Thanksgiving Day, calling for its observance "in a spirit of reverence and gratitude to Almighty God for all the blessings we have received, closes with the request that the American flag be displayed."

Following the usual order of service there will be a brief period in which members of the congregation may express their gratitude for healings and other help which they have received during the past year.

The special music will be given by the choir of First Presbyterian Church, the selection being, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crandall. The offering will be used for the support of religious education in the Birmingham schools.

The special music will be given by the choir of First Presbyterian Church, the selection being, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crandall. The offering will be used for the support of religious education in the Birmingham schools.

As is customary in all Christian Science Churches, a special Thanksgiving service will be held on Thanksgiving Day in First Church of Christ Scientist in Birmingham.

Following the usual order of service there will be a brief period in which members of the congregation may express their gratitude for healings and other help which they have received during the past year.

The special music will be given by the choir of First Presbyterian Church, the selection being, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crandall. The offering will be used for the support of religious education in the Birmingham schools.

The special music will be given by the choir of First Presbyterian Church, the selection being, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crandall. The offering will be used for the support of religious education in the Birmingham schools.

What to Give and What Not In Old Clothing Drive

Headquarters for the clothing drive the local salvage committee is conducting for the WPA and foreign relief agencies is at 87 North Woodward, where members of the AWVS are in charge throughout this week.

Next Monday the MOMS Club will handle the work and continue through Dec. when the Neighborhood War Clubs will take over until the end of the drive on Dec. 4. Hours are 9 to 5.

The following items are NOT wanted: hats, shoes, leather gloves, neckties, suspenders, belts, corsets, galoshes, rubber coats or boots, diapers and other similar articles.

The collection primarily is for warm, outmoded clothing which cannot be used by the families contributing it, including heavy coats, sweaters, skirts, robes, wool mittens and gloves, shirt, nightgowns, pajamas, snow suits, infants' apparel and underwear.

Despite the fact the house was broken into and its interior wrecked, and that Erik Bergshagen, a kennel operator at 3520 Adams, opposite the vacant building, called that occurred and notified Mrs. Israel, but in turn sent some men working on her place to the scene who caught the boys at their vandalism, no one at that time thought of making a complaint.

If they had been held and MacLean summoned, he could have proceeded against them without further action by the Israel. He states he pleaded with them for two days to stop a complaint.

The Israel says that parents of the boys called on them in a group Sunday night and "apologized" for the incident. No offering was made for the damage done was made or made. Mrs. Israel says the boys, when asked why they wrecked the house, replied: "We thought it was empty and didn't belong to any one. One of the youths is said to be the son of a Royal Oak police officer. The only thing that was taken from the Israel is that of the youth whose parents' car was used by the group."

Based on the rate of $22.45 per $100 on the assessed valuation, the 1943 tax is $11 less than the corresponding 1942 tax, which was $22.45.

Of the $22.45 rate this year, the greatest part is formed by the Birmingham school tax—school operating expenses—$10.85; taxes due: $6.50, or a total of $17.35. Forming the remainder of the tax rate are county operating expenses, $4.07; county debt, $7.81; and drain-at-large, $2.55.

Wreck House, 6 Youths Go Unpunished

Police Called Too Late; Owners Won't Sign Complaint

Damage of between $1,000 and $1500 was done to a vacant house on Adams Road belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Israel of 3069 Adams last Friday by six Royal Oak high school students who skipped school and went joy-riding, but at latest checking it appears they will go wholly unpunished for their act.

Mrs. Israel admitted to Stewart MacLean, Bloomfield township police officer who investigated the case, that unwillingness of her husband to proceed with formal prosecution of the case, left her unable to sign a complaint under which the youths, all believed to be under 17, could be taken before the probate court at Pontiac.

Despite the fact the house was broken into and its interior wrecked, and that Erik Bergshagen, a kennel operator at 3520 Adams, opposite the vacant building, called that occurred and notified Mrs. Israel, but in turn sent some men working on her place to the scene who caught the boys at their vandalism, no one at that time thought of making a complaint.

If they had been held and MacLean summoned, he could have proceeded against them without further action by the Israel. He states he pleaded with them for two days to stop a complaint.

The Israel says that parents of the boys called on them in a group Sunday night and "apologized" for the incident. No offering was made for the damage done was made or made. Mrs. Israel says the boys, when asked why they wrecked the house, replied: "We thought it was empty and didn't belong to any one. One of the youths is said to be the son of a Royal Oak police officer. The only thing that was taken from the Israel is that of the youth whose parents' car was used by the group."

Based on the rate of $22.45 per $100 on the assessed valuation, the 1943 tax is $11 less than the corresponding 1942 tax, which was $22.45.

Of the $22.45 rate this year, the greatest part is formed by the Birmingham school tax—school operating expenses—$10.85; taxes due: $6.50, or a total of $17.35. Forming the remainder of the tax rate are county operating expenses, $4.07; county debt, $7.81; and drain-at-large, $2.55.

Property owners will have until January 10 to pay this tax bill, plus the 1% collection charge, without additional penalty. After this date, a 3% penalty will be added, payable to the city treasurer before March 1, 1944.

THE S and THAT

By G. R. A.

British Leader Says U. S. "Santa Claus Role" Injurious to Post-War Peace

For many, many months there has been coming from high places in the federal government the grandiose notion that the rich United States must, during and after the war, become the Santa Claus of practically every impoverished nation on earth.

We all have read of these plans, uttered in the words and writings of men like Vice-President Henry Wallace, Eleanor Roosevelt, and even the President, from them on down through the range of radical New Dealers to professors, professional sociologists and charity workers. We have heard the thought echoed: "Rich Uncle Sam, from the vastness of his great wealth, must see that the backward nations are fed and housed, educated and given employment, etc., etc."

We have also read statements by practical men and women that such a plan as this is beyond the nation's powers; that no day the nations that have been promised Santa Claus aid will get mad and resent our efforts to fulfill these grandiose plans.

Well realizing these things, you may rest assured that I was tremendously impressed, even astounded, a few days ago when I heard an important Britisher talk to the contrary; he was no other than Sir Patrick Duff, Deputy High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada. Sir Patrick was addressing an international meeting of Rotarians at Windsor.

From 1923 to 1933 he was private secretary to former Prime Ministers Stanley Baldwin and Ramsay MacDonald. He was Secretary, Minister of Works and Public Buildings for British prior to the war. He was also secretary of a boy in British affairs, you see.

Sir Patrick spoke chiefly of post-war problems. Summed up briefly, he strongly opposed internationalism; he was against backward people; help them within their own powers, but why tell them they are backward when you build him a house on a hill when you know it can't be done?

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

Don't spoon-feed! In any nation, any group of people within a nation for, as Sir Patrick put it, "that is the straight road to dictatorship. Government cannot solve all the problems of people; the people, themselves, must find their own solution through individual efforts, through their own talents and toil and ambitions."

Will Tide Turn Maples' Way After 10 Yrs?

Contest with Royal Oak Set for 10:30 Thursday

When the starter's gun sounds for the kickoff in the 45th renewal of the Birmingham-Royal Oak football game at Case Field, Royal Oak, tomorrow morning at 10:30, 22 high school football players will be locked in a struggle which will determine whether Birmingham's Maples return home victorious over the Acorns for the first time since 1933.

Nor will the estimated 5,000 persons who will attend the annual Turkey Day classic be the only ones interested in who is entitled to the possession of the Little Brown Jug—the well-worn, earthen trophy—symbol of victory.

Many letters have been received by Birmingham students and teachers from members of the armed forces—who were former students at Baldwin High School—asking that the results be wired, not written, to them immediately.

Tomorrow's game will not be lacking in the familiar hard rivalry and good sportsmanship which have always marked previous contests between the two schools.

A pre-game forecast of the outcome as based on season performance is hard to make, but the team plays its best for it is out to win.

The Acorns, members of the Border Cities League which comprises one of the largest and strongest high schools in the state, have hung up victories over Wyandotte, Berkeley, Hazel Park, and other teams in the league.

Help them, yes—help them to become so reliant on your support, show them how to become free from ignorance, co-operate with them, entice them, show them how—then let time prove the answers.

E. C. McBride Sells Garage Building At 464 South Woodward

Warren Sumner, operator of the Buick Agency at 464 South Woodward, has arranged with the Birmingham-Royal Oak football game at Case Field, Royal Oak, tomorrow morning at 10:30, 22 high school football players will be locked in a struggle which will determine whether Birmingham's Maples return home victorious over the Acorns for the first time since 19