Ruth Porritt Married at Afternoon Ceremony, Oct. 9

Wearing a traditional ivory satin gown, Ruth Porritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Porritt, of Adams road, became the bride of James Freeland Moore, Chief Petty Officer, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Moore, of Kinkland, Ind., at a 4:30 wedding performed in the home of the bride's parents, last Saturday.

The service, officiated by the Reverend W. Glenn Harris, was read before the living room fireplace. The mantel was bedecked with a low spray bouquet of white mums and cybodium fern. Large candelabra with bouquets of white mums and ribbon streamers gave a soft lighting effect.

Ruth, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned after princess lines, with a tight bodice, and long fitted sleeves which tapered to tiny points over the wrists; the heart-shaped neck line was edged with Chantilly lace. Her long veil of illusion fell from a tiara of chantilly lace, which was worn by her sister, Mrs. J. F. Moore, at her wedding; it was brought from Venice some years ago by Mrs. and Mrs. Porritt. Both her dress and veil had a train and she carried a white prayer book and white orchids and boucarrdia.

Mrs. John Finn, of New York, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of gold crepe with epaulettes of gold and green beads. Her corsage was of green orchids.

Dorothy Porritt, another sister of the bride, and Miriam Moore, sister of the bridegroom, wore similar dresses of green crepe. They also carried green orchids.

Mrs. Moore was his son's best man and the ushers were Lt. (j.g.) John Finn, of New York, and John Bergert, of Chicago.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Porritt chose tea rose crepe which had a beaded collar and belt. She wore a corsage of orchids at her shoulder. Mrs. Moore wore a gown of gray crepe trimmed in fuchsia. She also wore orchids. Following the reception there was a dinner for 30 guests at the Waldorf.

For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Moore chose a moss-green suit with a brown hat with gold feathers and brown accessories. Out-of-town guests include Mrs. E. Ward Moore and Martha Moore, of Thornton, Ind.; Miss Wilman Whiting, of Oakland, Cal.; and Earl Goldman, Atlanta, Ga., besides members of the wedding party.

The couple will reside in Birmingham after the first of November.

$200 Appropriated By Garden Club For Red Cross

The Birmingham Garden Club voted, last Monday, to give $200 to the American Red Cross. The entire membership present at the October meeting expressed itself in favor of the donation from the club treasury. It was recommended that the money be divided equally between the Camp and Hospital Service and the Prisoner of War Relief.

Mrs. William C. Howe, president, expressed the sentiments of the members when she said: "There is no better time or better cause for giving our club savings than to help our boys who are giving so much for their country."

After the business meeting Mrs. George W. Patch spoke on "Keeping the Cost of Living Down." Mrs. Patch is Consumer Chairman for the Oakland County Office of Civilian Defense and a member of the State O. C. D. Consumer Committee.

Mrs. Raymond Reitter displayed a table of canned foods prepared by club members, showing the ration points saved by each home canned quart of fruits and vegetables.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Raymond, formerly of Cranbrook School, now of Allentown, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Catherine, on Friday, Oct. 1, in Allentown.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Frederick, of Vinewood, announce the birth of a baby girl, Elizabeth Ann, Sept. 21.

Elizabeth Jean Sheridan became the bride of J. Donald Reed. Elizabeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sheridan, and Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Reed, of Los Angeles, Calif. He is a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The candlelight service was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents Oct. 9, at 8:30 p. m. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a light blue dress fashioned along simple lines, and carried her grandmother's Bible with a spray of geranias and stephanotis. She also carried a 75-year-old handkerchief that was carried by her grandmother Leslie, one that has been carried by all of the daughters in the family.

Elizabeth was attended by Mrs. Milton L. Freeman, matron of honor, and Mary Stewart Sheridan, maid of honor.

For her wedding trip Mrs. Reed wore a green suit with brown accessories. After a short trip west Mr. and Mrs. Reed will make their home in Cleveland, O.

"Do you think our boy will leave footprints on the sands of time?"

"He'd leave 'em anywhere. Just look out in the hall."

Famous N. Y. Tenor Visits Bergishagen

Lauritz Melchior, famous tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who has just returned from a tour in South America, will be the guest of Erik Bergishagen of Jagerbo Kennels, during the hunting season.

Mr. Melchior and Mr. Bergishagen are old friends from Denmark. They served in the Royal Danish Guard together.

Granted to a lawyer: "If women controlled their tongues, half of us would be out of work."

JANE IS A PATRIOT

Jane is a war-worker in a city far from home. She's making radios for tanks. Being only 18, she sometimes gets homesick, so she has been calling her mother on long distance once a week.

Last week she didn't call. Instead she wrote a letter:

Mother Dear:

I wish as all miss on telephone with, I'm going to give them up. I know I'm uneducated because long distance lines are so wonderful with important news calls that I don't think we ought to add to the load. We'll both write nice long letters and when the war is over we'll have ourselves talk once more.

Long distance lines to war-busy centers are particularly congested. Only you can decide whether your call is so important that it should be placed on those overburdened circuits. So, please . . .

- 1 Make only the most necessary calls to war-activity areas.
- 2 If the operator asks you to limit your call to 5 minutes, please co-operate . . . her request means others are waiting.
